CAPT. R. T. COUSLEY, U. S. A.

To

Capt. Robert Grant Cousley, U. S. A.

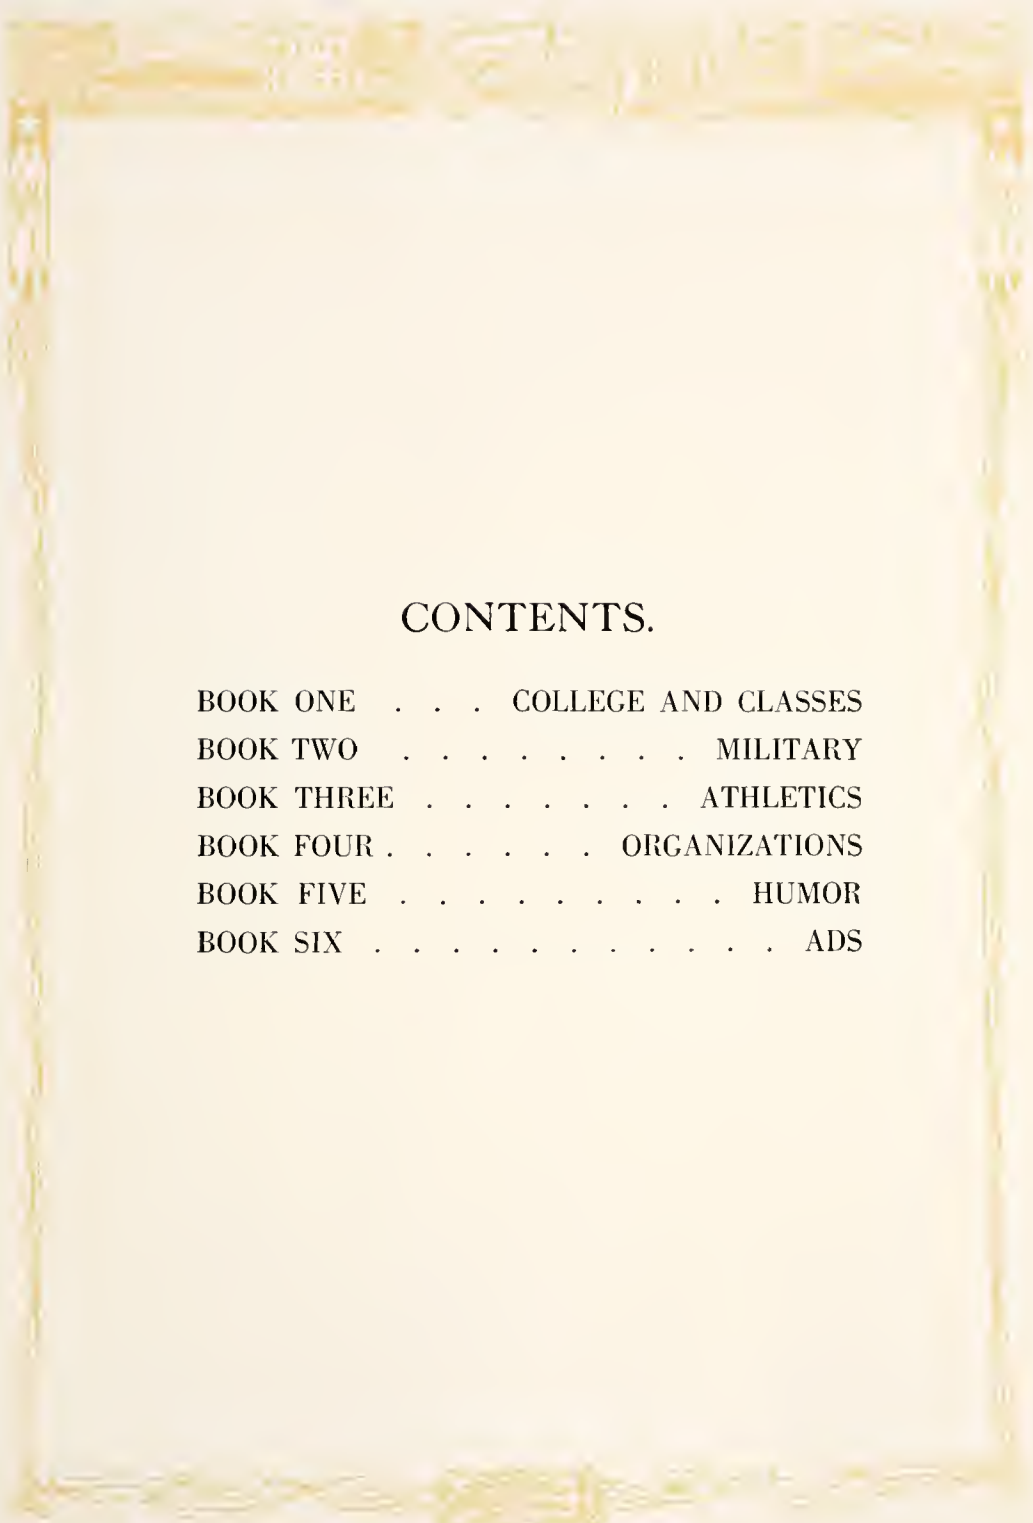

One whose untiring efforts, loyal endeavor and zealous care has been for the interest and the betterment of every student activity, whether scholastic, military, athletic or social; disciplinarian of the first class, a cultured gentleman, an inspiring leader, and a steadfast friend, we affectionately dedicate this volume of The Commandant.

FOREWORD

IN PRESENTING
THE 1921 COMMANDANT

E, THE SENIORS, have striven to submit to the public a vivid picture of G. M. C. life, not in an artistic manner, but presented the picturesqueness of our daily life as it really occurs.
We hope that this volume will be a source of pleasure to those of us who find time in the turmoil of the Golden Future to turn once again over these pages.

C. H. HORNE.

To the Faculty.

Colonel Alfriend finds it easy to be pleasant

When everything flows along like a song,

But he's a man worth while; for he's a man with a smile
even when things go wrong.

Here's to Major Edwards with his ever ready smile

Who always makes us realize that life is worth the while.

May he prosper, but never fail to see

How much he was appreciated during his stay at G. M. C.

Here's to Major Russell who is strictly in it.

He doesn't loose his head for a single minute,

Unfailing courtesy for young and old

Even when lessons must be very oft told.

Here's to "Baby" Rolston, as modest as a maid

With untiring patience, but always unafraid

Of giving us long lessons to expand our brains says he

May we find a way of expansion save thru Trigonometry?

Here's to Major Morrison with his most sarcastic air

A historical atmosphere surrounds him everywhere,

And when it comes to temperaments, he is of the very best

But seems to think our "salvation" lies in a History Test.

Here's to Cabell and Martin with their knowledge of things scientific

They keep their pupils ever scared by forcing them to be specific,

May they find in this world with its many funny little turns

That there are many things more interesting than studying bugs and worms?

Here's to Coach Bonner who's an athlete through and through,

And it's the height of his ambition to make us athletes too,

He works with untiring effort morning, night, and noon.

And we are sure that good results he will reap, very, very soon.

Here's to Mrs. Reese who came to us this year,

To take the place of Miss Ennis whom we all loved so well.

Then let us say to you dear friend that everyone may hear,

The love and respect that is borne her, neither tongue nor pen can tell.

Here's to Captain Cousley and "Sarg" Reese with courtly air and mien

In military matter, may they ever rule supreme?

By NELL SIMMS.

 HERE COMES THE REST OF THE FACULTY ALL IN A HUSTLE, FAIRLY ROLSTON, MORRISON, MARTIN, AND RUSSELL, AND EDWARDS, STEIGMAN, AND BONNERIS A BIG CABOOSE,
 THERE TO GETHER YOU HAVE WHAT WE ALL CALL "THE DEUCE"

CHAPLAIN

LOVICK P. ALFRIEND

"Bishop"

1920-21

Private Company "A" 1920-21; Secretary-Treasurer Senate Literary Society; Y. M. C. A. Annual Staff; Dramatic Club.

Once his friend; always!—That's Bishop. He hails from that ancient city of Sparta but has a very keen interest in Augusta. We wonder why.

Although "Bish" has only been here one year, he has made an enviable record in all that he has undertaken, and by his Gold Star we can readily see that he is a hard student.

Bishop hasn't decided what his life's work will be, but we know that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

"Life lives only in success."

Sparta, Georgia.

OLIN O. BANKS

"Solid"

1917-18-19-20-21

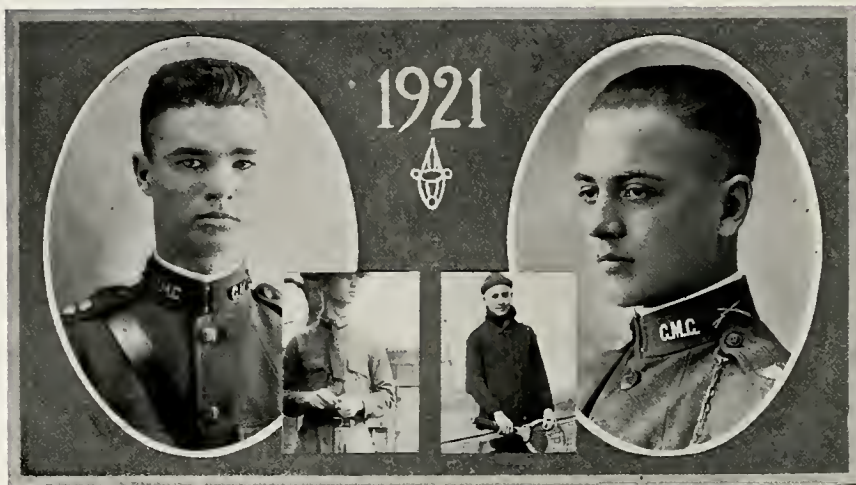

Private Company "C" 1917-18; Private Company "A" 1818-19; Private Company "B" 1919-20; Private Company "B" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society, Foot Ball 1920-21.

Solid is a good old pal anyway you take him. He has been at G. M. C. since entering the first grade, and during that time he has made many friends—but no enemies. He has become unusually popular this year especially with the Co-Eds of the Senior Class.

He is the possessor of an unusually good voice, and many times at night he may be heard with his friends serenading the girls of "The Promised Land." He serenades until he sees aroused sentinel coming with his "gattelin Gun."

"Luck will carry a man across the brook if he will leap."

Milledgeville, Georgia.

LAWRENCE R. BENNETT

"Shavvy"

1918-19-20-21

Private Company "C" 1918; 1st Lieutenant Quartermaster, 1919-20; *Captain Company "A" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society; Cotillion Club; Officers Club; Chaplain Senior Class.

Shavvy hails from the noble city of Jesup, and is one of the best, as well as one of the most popular officers at G. M. C. He has many friends which he has won by his willingness to always give anyone a helping hand.

In spite of his popularity, etc., he is a big brag, and his chief occupation seems to be bumming. Shavvy, however, is not a woman hater; for he DOES believe in the women, and has never been known to miss any of the dances around this Burg.

"He who hath braved youth's dizzy heat dreads not the frost of Age."

Jesup, Georgia.

ROBERT H. BETTS

B Φ K

"Robert"

1918-19-20-21

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Sergeant Company "B" 1919-20; First Lieutenant Company "B" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society; Officers Club; Y. M. C. A.; Annual Staff; Assistant Business Manager '21 Commandant.

Robert needs no introduction; for he is so widely known that the class would seem incomplete without him. He is the personification of good nature and the possessor of an equal amount of fun and studiousness. We have great hopes for Robert; so don't be surprised to find his name written with Galileo, Newton, Watt, and other great scientists. He is an all 'round fellow and G. M. C. wishes for him the best of luck.

Last but not least, he is the noble and dashing First Lieutenant of Company "B."

"A wit with dunces, and a dunce with wits."

Bostwick, Georgia

H. L. BRYAN

"Hal"

1919-20-21

Private Company "C" 1919-20; Sergeant Company "B" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society.

Hal is a boy eccentric in his ideas yet of the best type of tea-hound G. M. C. has ever produced. He is a true combination of loyalty, mingled with the zeal of youth.

We will all remember him by his winning ways and persuasive manner.

*"If we do meet again, why, we shall smile;
If not, why this parting was made well."*

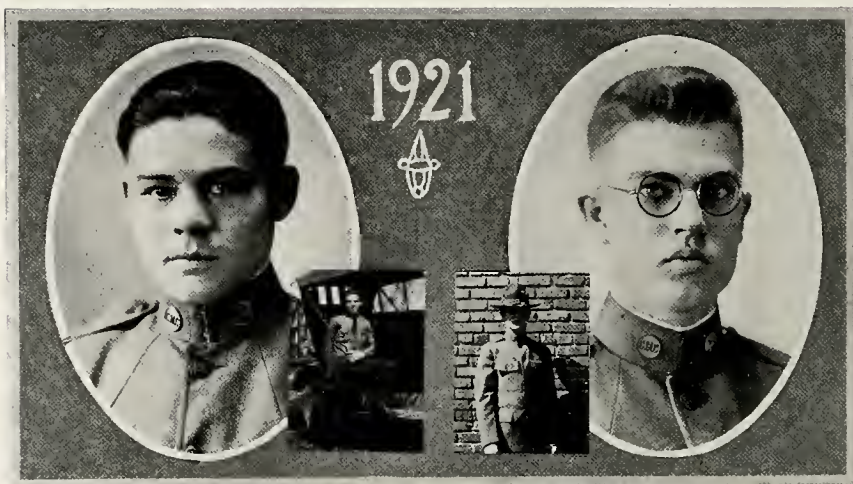

A. BELK COGGIN

"Billy"

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Private Company "C" 1919-20; Private Company "C" 1920-21. Jeffersonian Literary Society; Dramatic Club.

"Billy" is one of those rare boys that are gifted with an unusually bright intellect. He was elected by the student body as the most intellectual cadet and it is unnecessary to say that he stands well in his class. Also he is a silver-tongued orator and some day we expect him to rank with the world's foremost statesmen. Every afternoon "Billy" can be seen out around the "Country Store" talking to the G. N. I. girls as they go by. He is popular in school and much is expected of him in the days to come.

"Nothing risk; nothing won."
Milledgeville, Georgia.

WILLIAM T. FOWLER

"Sleeping Willie" "Bill"

1917-18-19-20-21

Private Company "A" 1917-18; Corporal Company "C" 1918-19; Private Company "A" 1919-20; Private Company "A" 1920-21; Foot ball 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

"Precious jewels are found in small packages." This is certainly true of Bill; for although he kept hidden from us until this year just how much he was capable of accomplishing in various forms of athletics, we now fully realize what a jewel he is, and all the members of the Class of 1920-21 will be proud in years to come to tell the world that Bill was one of their classmates.

"Silence speaks volumes."

Milledgeville, Georgia.

BENNETT M. GILMORE

"Ole Lady"

1920-21

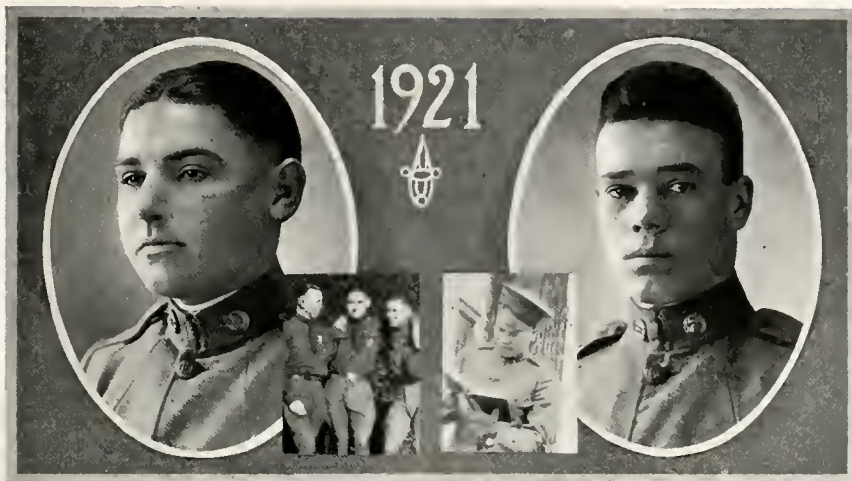

Private Company "A" 1920-21; Secretary-Treasurer Jeffersonian Literary Society; Gold Star Student.

We are sure, by his record at G. M. C., that in a few years Ole Lady will outrival Edison and other great scientists. He likes all his studies but LOVES his Physics.

His hobby is collecting pipes. At present he has only sixteen, but by the first of June he hopes to have doubled that number.

"A snapper up of unconsidered trifles."

Newberry, Florida.

CLAUD P. GLEATON

"Glycerine"

1919-20-21

Private Company "C" 1919-20; Sergeant Company "B" 1920-21; President Non-Com. Club; Senate Literary Society; Annual Staff.

Glycerine has been with us two years and in this time he has won a place in the hearts of every one of us who know him well. He is a quiet, dignified, studious, easy-going, and—last but not least—a good looking fellow.

Arlington, Georgia

MADISON HINES

"Mat"

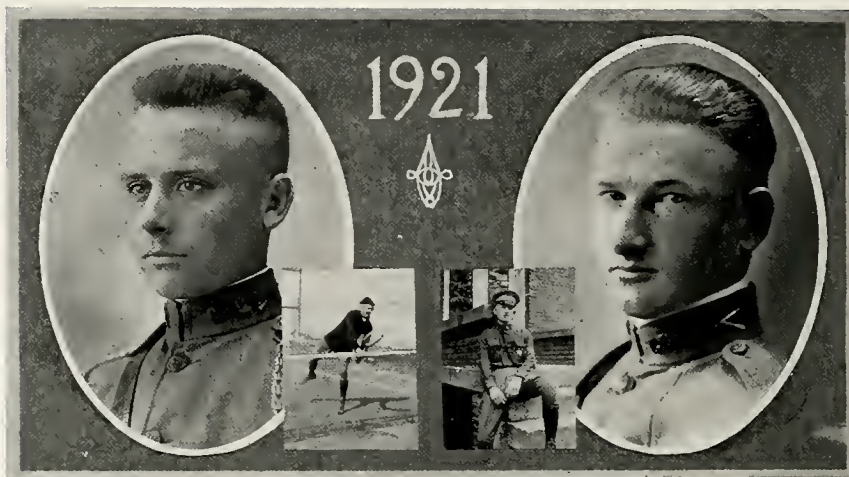

1915-16-17-18-19-20-21

Private Company "C" 1915-16; Private Company "C" 1916-17; Private Company "C" 1917-18; Corporal Company "B" 1918-19; Corporal Company "C" 1919-20; Drum Major 1920-21; Winner Squad Drill 1920; Football 1920; Basket Ball 1921; Jeffersonian Literary.

Mat has the distinction of having been at G. M. C. longer than most of us. He always makes friends with the members of the entire student body, and therefore his friends are numberless. He possesses great dramatic ability, and has shown himself to be quite an addition to the teams in the different forms of athletics.

"And he whittled as he went for want of thought."

Milledgeville, Georgia

CARLOS H. HORNE

1917-18-19-20-21

Private Company "C" 1917-18-19; Lieutenant Company "C" '20; Captain Company "C" 1920-21; Vice-President Y. M. C. A. 1920-21; Editor-in-Chief of Commandant '21; President Officer's Club '21; Senate Literary Society, Gold Star Man.

Carlos is one of the human beings called "little but loud." When you first meet him, your impression is that he is a very quiet boy, and he is until you see him on the parade ground in charge of his company. Then your ideas are changed and you say, "Gosh, but he's loud!"

Carlos is one of the most popular boys at G. M. C. He seems to be a "Woman Shunner," but he has one eye fastened on G. N. & I. and unless something happens, as long as he remains at G. M. C. his eyes will be on "The Promised Land."

He is full of pep and determination and when he starts out to do a thing you may say that thing is accomplished.

"He that hesitates is lost."

Rossllyn, Virginia

ROBERT P. MIKELL

"Bob" "Blondy"

1918-19-20-21

Private Company "D" 1918-19; Corporal Company "C" 1919-20; First Sergeant Company "C" 1920; Lieutenant Company "C" 1921; Jeffersonian Literary Society, Officers Club; Secretary Y. M. C. A.; Assistant Editor-in-Chief of Commandant 1921.

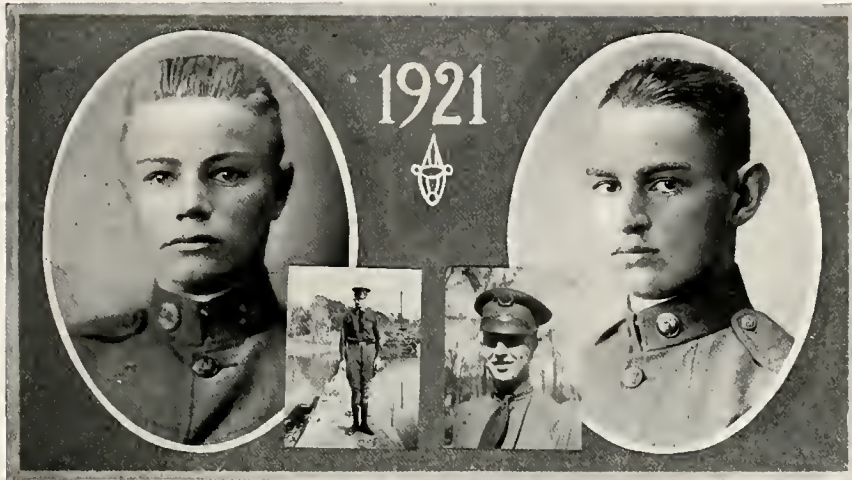

Bob has grown rich at G. M. C. by putting out hard labor in the establishment of Tingle & Mikell. If he finds it impossible to make a living and grow rich selling weiners, perhaps he could get a job in the movies. Everyone at G. M. C. remembers his production of the part of Uncle Sam in the Pageant "King Cotton."

He has made many friends at G. M. C. and is noted for his fondness of going up on "The Hill" and viewing "The Promised Land."

Bob is known by his wit and humor. When in a tight place he always comes out smiling. In spite of his wit, he loves his books and has the distinction of being a Gold Star Man.

"Smile and the world smiles with you."

Statesboro, Georgia

ALTON L. MOORE
 "Little Top"
 1920-21

Private Company "A" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society; Basket Ball 1921; President French Society; Annual Staff; Y. M. C. A.

If you have ever happened to be down at the "Y" Hut when the Basket Ball team is practicing, and have heard a voice above all others, yelling "Hey-ya," then you have heard and perhaps seen "Little Top."

His hobby seems to be playing Basket Ball, but he is very fond of visiting "The Promised Land."

Although this is his first and last year at G. M. C., he has made a host of friends who will always remember him. We are sure the girls of G. M. C. as well as off G. N. & I. C. will miss him more than words can express.

*"Little head, little wit;
 Big head, not a bit."*

Hazlehurst, Georgia

G. WAYNE PARRISH
 "Mary"
 1918-19-20-21

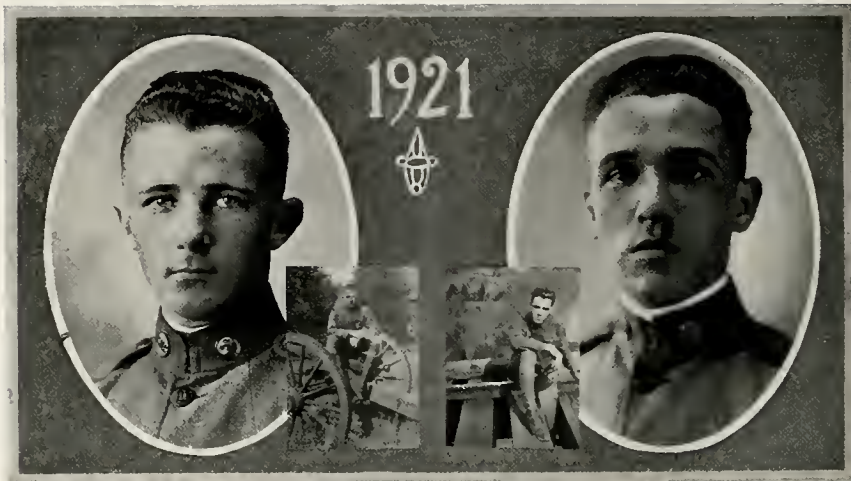

Private Company "D" 1918-19; Private Company "A" 1919-20; Sergeant Company "A" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society; Cheer Leader; Basket Ball 1920-21.

Ladies and Gentlemen, step forward and take a look at "George Washington Parrish," the one and only countryman at G. M. C. who hails from a Republican District.

Mary has a sweet face and a loving disposition which manifests itself in the writing of Love lyrics. His genial disposition and happy smile have gained for him a host of friends at Milledgeville, and the general regret now is that he seeks a broader field of learning.

*"Why should conscience have vacation,
 As well as other courts o' th' nation. "*

Brooklet, Georgia

PIERCE, L. JR.

"Lovick" "Bob"

1920-21

Senate Literary Society; Corporal Company "B" 1920-21.

Bob is a boy of stern character and a winning personality. Although this is his first and last year at G. M. C. he has won many friends and companions.

At school he might be termed a "Woman Hater," but when you see him in his old home town of Richmond, Va., and a certain Auburn nearby, it is very probable that you would say "wonders will never cease."

His greatest ambition seems to be to own a peanut stand on the corner of Wayne and Hancock streets. Perhaps when his ambition is realized he will get his fill of "parched goobers" but not before.

"Known once; known always."

Sparta, Georgia

OTHO F. PITTMAN

"Pitt"

Cleansleeve Company "A" 1920-21; Member Senate Literary Society.

"Pitt" is a boy of moods. Any mood you strike him in, though, you will be sure to like him. His hobby seems to be dancing, and he is to be found at every such occasion around town.

"On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined."

Brownville, Tennessee

HELEN LYDIA RILEY

"Helen"

Class Secretary 1917; Vice-President 1918; Class Poet 1919; Member Dramatic Club 1917-18-19; Vice-President Philo-Mathean Literary Society, 1921.

Helen has the distinction of having been at G. M. C. since her Sub-Freshman year, and during that time she has won a score of friends and admirers. She has that wonderful gift of not worrying about her troubles but takes life as it comes. There is nothing too good for her to do for those whom she loves, but MY—how she does "sat upon" the others.

*"Laugh at your friends, and if your friends are sore,
So much the better—you can laugh the more."*

Milledgeville, Georgia

WILLIAM J. ROWLAND

"Bill"

Lieutenant Company "A" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society; Officers Club; Annual Staff.

Bill came to us early in the year from Marion Institute. He won the name of "hard-boiled" and "woman-hater" when he first came to G. M. C., but those names have long since been cast aside for he has proved exactly the opposite in both cases. He has made a good record for himself in both school room and parade ground. He never pushes friendship, but when anyone shows, in the slightest manner that the path is clear he at once steps in. Our advice to all is to cultivate Bill's friendship—for he is a friend worth having.

"The unspoken word never does harm."

Vicksburg, Mississippi

ALLAN B. SIBLEY

"Bo"

Private Company "C" 1917-18; Private Company "C" 1918-19; Second Lieutenant Company "A" 1919-20; Captain Company "B" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society; Class Historian 1917-18-19; Class Prophet, 1920-21; Secretary Officers Club.

When it comes to Trigonometry and physics, "Bo" is right there with the goods.

He has made many friends at G. M. C., all of which will miss him a great deal next year.

"Love inspires ambition."

Milledgeville, Georgia

EMMIE NELL SIMMS

"Nell"

President of the Philo-Mathean Literary Society 1920; Class Poet; Member of the Dramatic Club 1918-19-20-21.

Nell is one of those conscientious girls that everybody admires. She passes over the petty troubles of life with such calmness that we look on and wonder where our senses are. However, beneath this calm exterior is a ripple of mischief which often breaks forth when she is with those who know her best. Nell is always ready and willing to help a friend in need. She is considered one of the smartest students of the class, being one of the few to win a "gold star." She will long be remembered with love and respect by the members of the class of '21.

"Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep."

Milledgeville, Georgia.

SIDNEY LEE STEMBRIDGE

"Bannie"

1918-19-20-21

Jeffersonian Literary Society.

"Bonnie" believes in liberty and not being confined in a school room five days out of each week; for this reason he takes from three to five days off each week for the purpose of being FREE. But when he does come to school, he is there with all his heart, pays strict attention to his instructor, and seems to have no such wish as being free.

During the time he was at school, however, he won many friends that will remember him no matter where they go.

"Give me liberty or give me death."

Milledgeville, Georgia

CLIFFORD F. STILES

"Center-field"

1917-18-19-20-21

Private Company "A" 1917-18; Corporal Company "D" 1918-19; Sergeant Company "A" 1919-20; Sergeant Quartermaster Staff 1920-21; Football 1920-21; Track 1920-21; President Sophomore Class 1918-19; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

Centerfield is one of those easy going fellows who take things as they come. He has been with us for five years, and in this time he has made for himself scores of friends. He always contributes largely to any fun or mischief that is begun.

Milledgeville, Georgia

J. B. TINGLE

B Φ K

"Fat"

1917-18-19-20-21

Private Company "C" 1918; Corporal Company "B" 1919; Sergeant-Major 1920; First Lieutenant Adjutant 1921; Jeffersonian Literary Society, Officers Club; President Senior Class, President Y. M. C. A.; Business Manager of 1921 Commandant.

Fat is known and liked by everyone at G. M. C. Not only is he popular around school, but even with the girls around town and all the G. N. & I. girls know him. But Fat, unlike the other commissioned officers, does not spend much of his time in sight of "The Promised Land." Fat says it is "The Promised Land" all right, but will do no good to stand on the hill and look over into "The Forbidden Domain."

Fat should make a success in life as he started out successfully by selling weiners at the Canteen. If he is half as successful in life as he was at G. M. C. he will never suffer.

Regardless of what comes along, Fat always greets you with a smile and a word of good humor.

Fat's ambition is to be an artist and next year he is planning to study art and engineering; between the two his ambition should be realized.

"Laugh and grow fat."

Americus, Georgia

ANNIE CLYDE VEAL

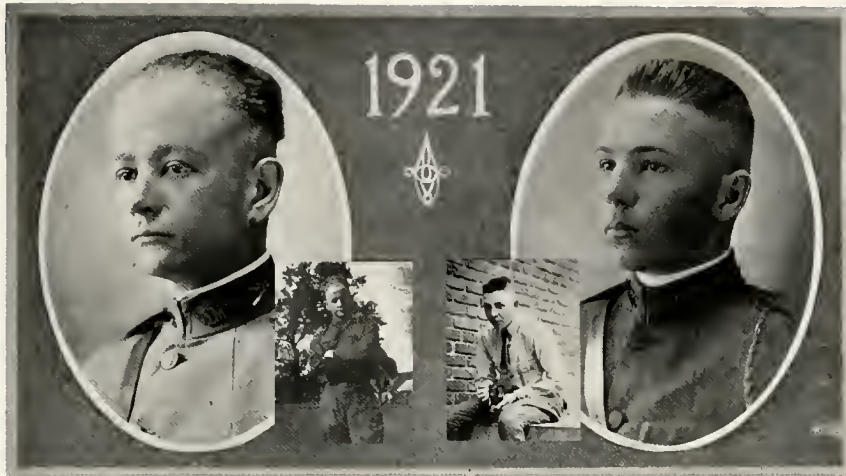

"Clyde"

Vice-President Philo-Mathean Literary Society, 1920.

Clyde belongs to that class of humans designated as dual personalities. Among strangers she assumes a dignified air that astonishes those who know her best, but when with her class friends she is always jolly and thinking some way to get into more mischief. She always manages to treat trouble lightly, giving everyone a cheerful word to help them on their way.

"Her voice was ever low, gentle, and sweet, an excellent thing in woman."

Milledgeville, Georgia

WILBUR M. WARREN

"Wilbur"

1918-19-20-21

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Sergeant Company "C" 1919-20; Lieutenant Company "B" 1920; Major 1921; Historian Junior Class, 1920; Historian Senior Class, 1921; Treasurer Y. M. C. A.; President Senate Literary Society, 1921; Athletic Editor, Commandant, 1921; Captain Football Team, 1921.

Wilbur has established quite a reputation while at G. M. C. He has the ability to make friends wherever he goes, and he surely has a host of them at G. M. C., and he also has a number on the "Hill." Wilbur was one of G. M. C.'s foremost football players. His ambition is to marry the "one" girl, "build a sweet little nest, and let the rest of the world go by."

Wilbur is known for his jolly good humor and ability to take things as they come. He is the most popular officer at G. M. C. and is a born leader of men, which he shows both in his conduct and in his carriage. Wilbur is "Hale Fellow Well Met" and will long be remembered at G. M. C.

"Nothing endureth like a friend."

Fitzgerald, Georgia

A. DIXON WILLIAMS, JR.

B Φ K

"Dick"

1917-18-19-20-21

Private Company "C" 1917-18; Corporal Company "D" 1918-19; Winner Squad Drill 1919; First Lieutenant Company "C" 1919-20; First Lieutenant Company "A" 1920-21; President Senior Y. M. C. A. Bible Class; Vice-President Officers Club; Vice-President Senate Literary Society; Secretary and Treasurer Senior Class; Photographic Editor of Annual 1921.

Dick is one of the most popular boys at G. M. C. and is also well known on the out-skirts of "The Promised Land." He is one of the few so-called timid boys at G. M. C. especially, in a crowd, but when a senior girl faints, he is right there to catch her. Ask him.

Dick seems to be a leader of boys. He has this peculiarity which makes him all the more popular among the student body.

"I have never seen his like; there lives no greater leader."

Senior Class "21."

IN the records of human achievements, there are always some events worthy of note, events that should be recorded for the benefit of future generations, and it is always with such an interest that the history of mankind is written. This history has passed from one generation to another and, accumulating down through the ages to the present day, furnishes us one of the most profitable forms of study, a study which has for him who pursues its courses good advice proved by our predecessors. That we should profit by their mistakes was the wish of our forefathers.

It is our desire in writing this history of the Class of '21 that our fellow students may see our mistakes and profit by them. And, if by this record of our achievements as well as of our mistakes, one man is benefitted and is brought to realize the necessity of applying himself in every undertaking, our effort will not have been entirely in vain.

Although we have made more than our share of mistakes, we have also accomplished many things worthy of commendation. The loyalty shown when in our Sophomore year the Old Barracks burned was very commendable. We take with satisfaction the credit that is our due, but would not hesitate to direct attention to the wonderful spirit shown by the entire student body at that time. The spirit that has always kept G. M. C. at the top was keenly felt by every member of our class, and though it seemed hard at times to weather the cold North winds in our tents, which quickly sprung up, we found consolation in the fact that we were not here only for the betterment of ourselves, but that we were here that G. M. C. might live and that her spirit might always be felt in dear old Georgia.

In our endeavors we have always put forth that determination and have always had that enthusiastic attitude which are so necessary to success. And we are proud to record that we have enjoyed a good measure of success in every line of college endeavor. Our classmates have represented our class as leaders in not only the Academic work, but also in the Military Department, and in the athletics of the school.

Our class is composed of capable students, but one may safely say that with a little more application there would be many more who would be among the first. However, we have a number of very remarkable students, who, it is certain, will reflect credit upon the teachers and the institution wherever they choose to further their education, or, if they choose to enter the business world, will show ability far above the average. And just here we wish to congratulate them on their success. Every member of the present class is proud of his affiliations with them. Certainly we have been bettered by their associations.

Members of our class have done unusually well in the Military Department of the College. Even in our Junior year, we had among our number four commissioned officers, as well as many non-commissioned officers. To these and to all who have this year excelled we wish to express our pleasure in having had as our class-mates, officers and non-commissioned officers who have always discharged their duties in a manner most commendable, who by their devotion and faithfulness to duty, as well as by their kindness, have won our hearts.

In the College Athletics, our class has made a very creditable showing, and we are proud of the fact that we have been so well represented in the various forms of play. Our members have shown that they were not only in perfect condition, but also that they possessed superb physiques. They have exhibited skill in the games in which they have participated. We feel that the praise that has been theirs is ours also, for they have always been devoted to their class. In the future, we wish for them the greatest success possible, and hope that they will always be praised as they have here, for their skillfulness of play and cleanliness of sportmanship.

History usually includes the leaders of great causes that have affected mankind, and whose great deeds have been told from one generation to another, until now we have a valuable record that tells us of their valiant deeds. In our history of the Senior Class we wish to tell of our feeling of admiration, and we must say, appreciation of the ceaseless and untiring efforts of our leaders, who by their inexhaustible patience, by their cheering smiles and by their guiding leadership have lead us over the difficult spots of our college career. It is with deep gratitude and increasing admiration that we refer to our leaders, the instructors, and say to them they have our heartfelt thanks. We wish them to know that it is our purpose to so live that their efforts will not have been in vain.

To the girls of our class, the cadets wish to express their great pleasure in having had them as classmates, classmates who by their continued faithfulness and devotion to duty, by their kindness, by their nobleness and by their love have entirely won the heart of every boy.

We hope that the spirit that has moved us on so many occasions, the spirit of knowledge, of truth, of righteousness, the spirit that will win success and happiness in the world, will always be the spirit of dear old G. M. C., and that it will thus continue to instill itself in the hearts of American manhood and womanhood. If this hope be realized, then G. M. C., the school of our hearts, will continue to prosper as she has in the past. Then there will be a cleaner manhood, a purer womanhood and a greater America.

W. M. WARREN, Historian.

Senior Class Prophecy.

Ah! It has indeed been many years since I embarked upon the Sea of Life, leaving my college days behind me, to wrestle with the world and withstand its trials and tribulations. But such is every man's lot in life, so I, like others, had to begin my task and face the cares and worries of life.

Having retired from business, with very little to trouble my mind, I naturally wished to know the success of my fellow classmates at G. M. C. Many cities and countries had I visited in hopes of procuring a little information concerning their careers, but thus far my efforts had been in vain.

I was sitting on the piazza of my hotel in Calcutta, conversing with my guide, when my eyes beheld the most curious human being (if he can be so called) I had ever seen. My guide, seeing my curiosity, ventured to enlighten me concerning this odd specimen of man.

"That is the wonderful Men-Kaura, Sahib. Have you not heard of the great feats he has accomplished with his crystal sphere?"

The guide showed no little surprise when I confessed I had never met this noted sage and man of wonders.

"Ah then sahib, you must do so at once, we will visit his establishment this afternoon; for perhaps he can give you the information you desire regarding your classmates."

At four o'clock, we entered this strange creature's abode. My guide spoke several words to him, he nodded his head in assent, and conducted us into a small room. The room was draped with curtains of fantastic color. It was lighted with green lights which produced a weird effect upon us making cold chills run down our spines. I composed myself however, by stroking my whiskers, and was ready to meet any onslaught that might take place.

Men-Kaura then drew back a curtain and there resting before my eyes was a large, shining, transparent ball as clear as crystal.

"And what does the sahib wish to know?" asked Men-Kaura to my guide in a thunderous voice that caused a peculiar sensation in the bottom of my stomach.

"He wishes, Wise Sage, to know the success his classmates at G. M. C., have attained in life."

Men-Kaura nodded his head again, and, turning toward the crystal ball, made many mystic signs, and spoke in low tones that were indistinguishable to the ear.

Suddenly! A bright red flame loomed before my eyes; Men-Kaura beckoned to us. I drew close to him, and bending my head low gazed with open mouth and wondering eyes upon the scene before me. There standing before me was our class president, J. Berner Tingle, who, with beaming countenance and bright smiles, introduced to us Lovick Alfriend, one of our most beloved students.

L. P. ALFRIEND: Lovick, having a natural bent for physics, has made it his life work. After much research and hard labor, he has published a book entitled, "Why Rivers Do Not Flow Uphill." It is a very interesting book (so he says) and is sold for the nominal sum of ten cents. He is now laboring upon the unaccountable phenomina. "Why the U. S. Went Dry." (We sincerely hope he can find the root of evil and remedy it).

BANKS, O. O.: Olin is now a professional boxer, having been tutored by Battling Minns. He is having a hard time finding some one to box with since he knocked out Jack Johnson.

L. R. BENNETT: Lawrence, (contrary to popular opinion), has achieved a great name and high social position in Africa. It is said he has been seen with the noted African chief Golash, and has often paid calls upon his daughter, Dinah, who is desperately in love with him. He is commander-in-chief of the kings army, having defeated one squad of the Abyssinians with only 1000 men. It was a remarkable victory.

R. H. BETTS: Robert is still running the ladies wild just like he used to when he was at G. M. C. He is married and has eight children. Not all are his however; for the third time he married he married a widow with five children. He has been very successful in business, each of his wives having been worth at least a half million.

H. L. BRYAN: Harold is now an advertising agent for E. E. Bell Dry Goods Store. His mode of advertising is unique. His special line is ladies' ready-to-wear clothing. He carries live models with him for exhibition. It is needless to say he has met with an overwhelming success in business.

A. B. COGGIN: Belk as you all know followed his natural vocation, i. e., oratory. Having completed Yale at the age of twenty-three, he became a lawyer. He was later sent to Congress and is now Secretary of State. It is thought that next election he will run for president of the United States. We all have great confidence in Belk and are glad to know he is meeting with such success.

W. T. FOWLER: Bill is now in the Navy. It is reported he leads a rather wild life, having a girl in every port on the globe. He speaks seven languages and twelve dialects. Next year he is considering teaching Chinese to the Ethiopians of South Africa. We prophesy a great success for him; for we all knew Bill well at school.

C. P. GLEATON: Gleaton is now teaching physics and rhetoric in the university of Mongolia. Before he became a professor, he tried the experiment of "raising hell" in Siberia in order to increase the temperature several degrees, but we are sorry to say he was taken for a bolshevik and consequently had to abandon this noble idea. We sincerely hope he will be able to complete this work in years to come.

BENNETT GILMORE: Bennett is a very successful electrician. He is classed with Edison on account of having invented many electrical appliances. His greatest invention is a small machine which transforms cigarette ducks into the most delicious tobacco that can be imagined. We are sorry to say he has produced only 946 of these machines and that all of these he uses for his own private necessities. He is thinking seriously of selling his patent to the DOG and CHAPMAN TOBACCO CONCERN, Milledgeville, Ga.

MAT HINES: Mat, was very successful at Tech, having led his class and making a record that has been unprecedented in the history of the school. He is now an engineer for the Baldwin County Sewer Company. A beautiful suit of clothes has been furnished free. He not only lays sewer pipes, but also works the roads. He gets his board free, and seems to be very contented with life.

C. H. HORNE: Carlos has married a beautiful young lady from Milledgeville and has four darling little girls. His success as a chemical engineer has been very encouraging indeed. He is now trying to discover why Milledgeville drinking water is muddy. He has also advanced several theories as to why ice freezes at the North Pole. His book entitled, "Why the Milky Way Has Never Turned to Clabber." has gained him a name that will rank him with Shakespeare, Dante and other eminent writers throughout the ages to come.

R. P. MIKELL: Bob is the head of The Mikell "Blondineing" Company. He has made a great deal of money among the Ethiopians in the south. He guarantees that one bottle of this magic fluid will make the blackest African as white as snow. He has also invented a machine that will make kinky hair straight. His marvelous soap that will make the skin as soft as horse hide has also netted him great profits.

A. L. MOORE: Alton is a very rich man. He and Berner Tingle went in business together and purchased that noted corporation now called the Moore and Tingle Tanlac Company. On all sign boards and advertisements you may see these two posing. Alton represents the patient before taking Tanlac and Berner represents him after taking Tanlac. They warrant that it only takes three bottles to produce this wonderful change. Their motto is: Money back if not satisfied.

G. W. PARRISH: Wayne is keeper for the animals at the New York zoo. He makes a specialty of training monkeys. His manner of training is a rather unusual but a very effective one. He simply hypnotizes the creatures and then commands them to comply with his wishes. It is rumored he made love to one of the females while under his hypnotic power and was surprised at the way she responded to his tender caresses.

LOVICK PIERCE: Lovick on account of his great beauty and handsome form is now in the Ziegfield Follies of Brown's crossing. He has such winning ways that the girls of the great metropolis have gone wild over him. I have heard he is a great home wrecker, but we hope this report is false; for Lovick did not strike us as being that kind of boy.

O. F. PITTMAN: Otho has cultivated his dancing and is now considered one of the best dancers in the United States. He has accepted a position as dancing teacher for the king of Mesopotamia's daughter. It is a life-long job, for she is said to be as graceful as a sea-lion.

HELEN RILEY: Helen is now in the moving pictures. She was originally with the Mack Sennett Scenario Company but has now succeeded Theda Bara in the Paramount Company. She has succeeded in performing a most marvelous feat she has vamped the noted Bill Rowland.

W. J. ROWLAND: Bill is nothing but a star gazer. We may see his astronomical work published in the Dodson's Livertone Almanac. Bill's favorite star is Venus from whom he has learned a great deal on the subject of love. Helen had a hard task when she caught Bill, but she finally succeeded. They live on Pikes Peak, so Bill will be near his work.

NELL SIMS: Nell is the leading suffragette in the United States. She is to run against Belk Coggin for President in the next election. We are afraid Belk will have a hard time defeating her; for she not only has a brilliant mind, but also has such exquisite beauty that we are quite sure all the men will vote for her.

C. F. STILES: Clifford has gone upon a large hunting expedition into Australia to capture a very ferocious animal commonly known to man as a squirrel. He has also threatened to bring back the hide of a wild Ukelele. We hope he will not become injured in this dangerous undertaking.

S. L. STEMBRIDGE: Sidney Lee is now a thriving farmer and dairyman. He has bought a large number of green glasses for his cattle. He feeds them excelsior; so he must be contemplating going into the lumber business.

J. B. TINGLE: I have now come to a weighty subject. Tingle having been appointed dog-catcher for the city of Milledgeville is now running a weiner stand which is netting him great profits.

CLYDE VEAL: Clyde has married one of the richest men in the world, viz: Berner Tingle. They live a life of simplicity on Riverside Drive, New York. Any member of the class is always welcome to visit their happy home.

F. WALKER: Flem is at Monte Carlo. He rakes in the cold cash as easy as he used to at G. M. C. Having learned the art well while he was in school.

W. M. WARREN: Wilbur's dream has come true. I see the little log cabin in the woods near the shimmering lake! 'Tis a moonlight night, and there paddling a canoe I see his graceful form. She is sitting by him, and as he looks down into her eyes of blue, surely he must think, "this is perfect bliss."

A. D. WILLIAMS: Dick is in this very city on his honeymoon, having married late in life, and after a very interesting career in different parts of the world where he had won both fame and fortune. After achieving for himself a place in the hall of fame, and winning enormous wealth through the publication of his twenty volumes on "How to Overcome Your Bashfulness," he returned to Milledgeville and found his boyhood sweetheart still waiting for him with every confidence that he would some day muster up sufficient courage to pop the question. Just how so brilliant and handsome a man escaped for all these years only to fall victim to the darts of Cupid at last, history doth not record.

"All is well that ends well."

“Class Poem” 1921.

Dear Classmates, we have climbed near the top of our hill,
To a spot where we rest for a-hye—
While we sort out our treasures and look far below—
At the things that eluded our eye.
Far in the school's recesses withdrawn,
Old school books sit in sullenness and gloom,
And most excellent lessons gone
Lie deep within the shadows of the school-room.
History, with all its charms—
Spanish, Latin, Trigonometry, that almost bows us to the ground,
And last of all the “Class Poem” of 1921
Will glide to thy dim realms and will be bound.

Thou hast several of my best years,
Thou hast my earlier woes—fractions—
And 'rithmetic sums yielded to thee with tears,
Composition blots, and all sorts of school day distractions.
'Tis come at last, the time when we must part—
An hour of sadness? Yes, perhaps 'tis so,
For months and years—
All hand in hand
We've trod the path 'til now the parting of the ways
Revels for us a distant, untried land.
'Tis our lot to tread its winding ways,
To share its griefs, to taste its joys awaiting us in distant days.
School days were our May-time, our youth-time, our best time for work.
Have we cherished this time on the way?
While we whisper our thanks to our dear faithful guides,
Have we followed their guidance each day?

At the foot of a hill, wisdom's broad temple stands;
As pilgrims from her, we were sent.
She gave us like baskets and bade us search well,
And to gather each step as we went.
For mix't with the stones, that bestrew our steep path—
There are jewels, unseen at a glance,
And strange these are fewer the higher we climb,
And these few are gotten by chance—
And strange too, whenever we stoop for a gem,
We find a flower unseen before,
And the gem is enlapped, in the roots it keeps moist.
While the blooms we seek, blossom no more.

Thus wisdom has given us baskets at first—
Higher up, opportunities thin;
And she who stoops soonest, soonest gains her mind's store,
And bedecks all with joys that are twin.
While we who have dallied along our bright way,
And gathered its poppies alone;
Who have waited to seek for the gems further on,
Will find, to our grief, few or none,
And our subtle mind baskets that spoil from misuse
By play are both injured and torn
While the petal lost corymbs, and few gems we find
Are lost through the rents that we've worn.

Then let us take heed to this parable friends,
While yet there are heights we may gain;
With Time's golden thread, we may mend the sad rents
And gather the gems that remain.
We view the new charm of the down-sloping hill
And think of the happy time sped
Our Youth-time, our May-time, our best time—good-bye!
We must on,
With the past, thou hast fled.

NELL SIMS.

Commercial Seniors

JOE S. ALLEN

"Ben Turpin"

Private Company "B"; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

Ben is making quite a reputation for himself in the Commercial Class. He is popular with the girls and says that they all go wild over him. It is thought that he will return to Griffin and strive to be the leading undertaker in that thriving little town. We all wish him success.

"I pity that man who is not handsome."

Griffin, Georgia

WESLEY EDWARD BASS

"Bubber"

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Private Company "B" 1919-20; Sergeant Company "C" 1920-21; Varsity football player, 1920; Baseball scrub, 1921; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

"Bubber" is a favorite among all the boys in the battalion, especially those in the athletic circles. He doesn't ever have to resort to strategy to win his point either; for his appearance is enough to persuade any ordinary man.

We all think of "Bubber" as being wild and unsettled, but those of us that know him best can see within him the material of greatness.

We may forget "Bubber" but we can never forget his laugh.

"They laugh that win."

E. C. BROWN

"Link"

1918-19-20-21

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Private Company "C" 1920; Corporal Company "C" 1921; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

When you first meet Link you get the impression that he is quiet and unassuming, but in Link's case the first impression is by no means a lasting one.

He is a most inveterate smoker, his favorite brand being Camels. New Camel ads are always first detected by him, and he points them out proudly to his friends. Link is a most diligent student and ranks as one of the many Commercial sharks.

But despite all his faults, Link is a most likable chap, as it is utterly impossible to come in personal contact with him without becoming closely attached to him.

We predict for him a brilliant and successful business life.

"I will find a way or make one."

Bainbridge, Georgia

ZELMA INEZ CHANDLER

"Zelma"

Philo-Mathean Literary Society; Class Historian; Sponsor Company "B" 1920.

"Civilized men can not live without cooks,
And here is a girl who just loves her hooks;
I feel kinder sorry for one poor man,
But heaps of good things come out of a can."

Zelma has a kind of personal magnetism that is impossible to understand whether you want to or not, you can not help liking her. Her genial disposition has endeared her to us all.

"O woman, lovely woman! Nature made Thee."

Milledgeville, Georgia

J. PARKS DANIELS

"Parks"

Private Company "C"; Senate Literary Society.

This is Parks' first year at G. M. C., but he has made many friends and is having an easy time of it in "The Loafers Paradise."

"The best is yet to come."

GRANT C. ENNIS

"Grant"

Private Company "B" 1919-20; Sergeant Company "B" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society.

We can see in Grant the makings of a Master Accountant. Who can tell but what our same little Grant will institute one of the greatest accounting systems the world has ever known.

That isn't all either, he is said to be one of the biggest ladies man that ever hailed into our fair Milledgeville.

"Fair is foul, as foul is fair."

Thomasville, Georgia.

HARRY M. HARGROVE

"Caruso"

1919-20-21

Private Company "A" 1919-20; Private Company "C" 1920-21; Chaplain Commercial Class; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

The entire Commercial class are sure that whatever Caruso undertakes in life will be a success. Perhaps his training in the School of Commerce will do him no good after all, as his talents may lead him to be the second Caruso some day.

"Experience isn't worth anything."

Milledgeville, Georgia.

IDA MAE HOLTON

"Theda"

Philo Mathean Literary Society; Class Prophet.

She has astounded her class by evidence of unusual dramatic ability, which until now she has successfully hidden. Some day we are sure we will all point to her and boastingly say, "she was a class-mate of mine."

"Don't hide your light though it be small."

Milledgeville, Georgia

A. C. HOOTEN

"A. C."

Private Company "C" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

A. C. came to us this year from Bainbridge. We feel that he has been rather lonesome while at G. M. C., being so far from or from, "The One." We have enjoyed the company of A. C. the past term and we admire his ability to do what he should do, and do it cheerfully. When June rolls around we will miss his bright face, but we feel sure that someone else will smile again.

"Mind your business and someday you will have a business of your own to mind."

Bainbridge, Georgia

LELIA HORNE

"Lelia"

Philo Mathean Literary Society.

Lelia came to us some time ago and has been here ever since. She is popular with the girls as well as the boys and she has a wonderful asset, that is attending to her own business. We wish there were more like her. It is a sure thing that we will miss her a great deal when she leaves us in June.

*"Speak when you are spoken to;
Come when you are called."*

Milledgeville, Georgia

LILLIE MAE IVEY

"Lillie"

Philo Mathean Literary Society.

She is a very studious young lady and has made many friends while at G. M. C., especially in the Commercial Class. Her part will never be forgotten by her associates.

*"To be serious is a crime,
Let me have jollity all the time."*

Milledgeville, Georgia

JOHN MILTON KEMP

"John"

1920-21

Private Company "A" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

With a cheerful demeanor that pleases everyone, John has passed a successful year at G. M. C. He has made many friends who will remember him through life.

"Handsome is as handsome does, but it saves a lot of trouble to be born good-looking."

Dexter, Georgia

WINTON C. KEMP

"Butda"

Private, 1918-19-20; First Sergeant Company "C", 1920-21; Senate Literary Society.

Butda came to us after he had gone as high as he could in our neighboring institution. It seems that he can not—even after four or five years with us—get used to life at G. M. C., because there seems to be some special attraction out toward the "Country Store," or on "No Man's Land" for our friend

"If we could see ourselves as others see us."

Milledgeville, Georgia

ANNIE LINDSEY

"Slim"

Class Poet, 1920-21; Secretary-Treasurer Philo Mathean Society.

Slim is one of the most popular girls at G. M. C., and has made many friends that will miss her in the years to come, but her kind friends must remember that she is a graduate from the School of Commerce, and that the time has come for her to seek something else in life.

*"Bright as the sun her eyes the gazers strike,
And like the sun, they shine on all alike."*

Eatonton, Georgia

W. H. RAWLINS

"W. H."

Private Company "B"; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

W. H. is undoubtedly the leader of his class. He is very studious and it is expected that he will be one of the leading business men of the coming generation. He is very popular just on the other side of the hill, and goes that way very often.

"Be serious, and think twice before you act."

Milan, Georgia

LUVY LEE SCHOEFLIN

"Luvy"

Vice-President Commercial Class; Sponsor Company "A" 1921; Philo Mathean Society.

Luvy came to us this year from Tampa, Fla. Although she was a perfect stranger at the beginning of the term, her charming personality has won for her scores of friends among the boys and girls at G. M. C. Luvy is welcomed everywhere and her bright smile always chases away gloom. She has brought sunshine into the life of more than one. We predict a happy future for Luvy, and especially do we congratulate, in advance, the fortunate one, that she is to guide through life.

"To know her is to love her."

Milledgeville, Georgia

JESSIE SMITH

"Blondie"

Philo Mathean Literary Society.

Sweet, unassuming Blondie!

Her college career has been punctuated with much spooning and gaiety. She has been at G. M. C. since 1910, and in this time, of course, it is only natural that she has won many friends and admirers. She has proven that optimism can surmount the greatest difficulties.

"Never do today what you can put off until tomorrow."

Milledgeville, Georgia

RICHARD J. SMITH

B Φ K

"Dick"

Cleansleeve Company "C"; Senate Society; member B. F. C. 1921.

This boy with his sunny disposition comes from across the river. Entering G. M. C. in 1919, he became chaplain of the sub-Freshman class of the same year. He was President Freshman class, 1920, and President Sophomore class first half of 1921. Being a true soldier, he is the ardent lover of some fair lady; Dick's familiar expression first thing in the morning is: "Got to write a letter."

"Woe unto you thou art much in love."

Milledgeville, Georgia

WILLIAM C. TALTON

"Uncle Bill"

1918-19-20-21.

Private Company "A" 1918-19; Private Company "B" 1919-20; Private Company "A" 1920-21; Senate Literary Society.

Uncle Bill's hobby is taking life slow and easy with plenty of sleeping and eating. Every one in the Commercial class will miss Uncle Bill when he is gone, especially the ladies, of whom he is very fond.

"And gentle dullness ever loves a joke."

Kathleen, Georgia

SLEDGE T. TATUM

"Sledge"

1920-21

Private Company "B" 1920-21; Jeffersonian Literary Society.

Sledge is a very quiet boy and let's other people's business alone. He works hard indeed at whatever he undertakes, be it lessons, athletics, or military.

This is Sledges first year at G. M. C. but he has won scores of friends all of whom wish him good luck in life's work.

"Oh! he sits high in all the people's hearts."

Sparta, Georgia

ANNIE LOU VINSON

"Floppie"

Philo Mathean Literary Society.

Floppie came to us from G. N. & I. C., quiet and unassuming, not even knowing how to talk to a boy. But after her appearance at G. M. C., she quickly learned the art, and her G. N. & I. ways have vanished. The Commercial Class of 1920-21 will always remember her as being the very life and wit of the class.

"Take life as you find it."

Milledgeville, Georgia

Commercial Class Prophecy.

THE COMMERCIAL CLASS IN 1928

OSIAH ALLEN has been very successful in life. He is now manager of his Uncle Ben's ten-cent store in Milledgeville.

E. C. Brown is now in Honolulu where he is teaching a large dancing class of girls.

W. E. Bass has at last attained the height of his ambition—to be near G. N. & I. C. He is now assistant Professor of Science in that Institution.

Zelma Chandler is now a successful milliner in Sparta, Ga.

Frank Dunn is a very successful Ford salesman.

Luther Daniels has become a successful singer. He is now a star with the Metropolitan Opera Company, taking Caruso's place.

Grant Ennis is seeing the world and working at the same time. He is traveling from place to place selling toilet articles—powders and paints especially.

Ida Mae Holton is the present proud owner of a very beautiful home, a Pierce Arrow auto, a Pomerkin dog, and a very docile husband who is never in the way and can always be depended on.

Harry Hargrove is a notorious character. He is a philosopher in a rural school near Sandersville, Ga.

A. C. Hooten is the prosperous and contented owner of an orange grove in Florida.

Leila Horne, once the most dignified girl in the class, is now singing in the Zeigfield Follies.

Lillie Mae Ivey at one time thought that she was going to be a business lady, but that wasn't her talent. She is now a trained nurse in South Carolina.

W. C. Kemp has had a wonderful success in life. He is now a Jitney driver for the Beauty Special.

J. M. Kemp is Wallace Reid's only rival in the movies.

W. H. Rawlins, as might have been expected from his record at G. M. C., is now rivaling Thomas Edison in his wonderful inventions.

Annie Laurie Ivey always entertained a dislike for cold weather; so she has gone to South Africa where she and her husband are enjoying the warm sunshine.

R. J. Smith is now raising goats at his home across the river.

L. L. Smith is now leading that easy life where the roads fork. He sits on a box near an apple barrel and whittles with his best I. X. L.

Luvy Lee Schoefflin is now the teacher of a large class in Gregg's shorthand at Carrs Station.

W. C. Talton is the owner of a cigar factory in Havana.

Sledge Tatum is the proprietor of a beauty parlor on Fifth Avenue.

Annie Lou Vinson is at Palm Beach. She is sojourning there as social secretary of a very pleasant old lady.

You Will Never be Sorry

For thinking before speaking, for forgiving and forgetting, for being generous to the poor and kind to the needy, for looking before leaping, for living a square and fair life, for doing your level best—for all these you will never be sorry.

JUNIOR CLASS

Second Class History.

It is with a feeling of incompetence that I attempt to show the virtues and achievements of our class, but it is my purpose to portray to you the history we have made and some of the problems before us.

We have several in our class who can go back with pleasant memories into our by-gone school days and again enjoy being with our beloved teachers, and thank them for their untiring patience in helping us form a foundation upon which to build later.

We journeyed on and finally became Sub-Freshmen. As we gazed about, we found quite a few new faces which seem to add new strength and zeal, and with steadfast determination we started upon the sparkling sea of Algebra, Latin, and Literature. It was not long before we fell in line with the older classmen and rejoiced that we helped compose the "Upper Classes."

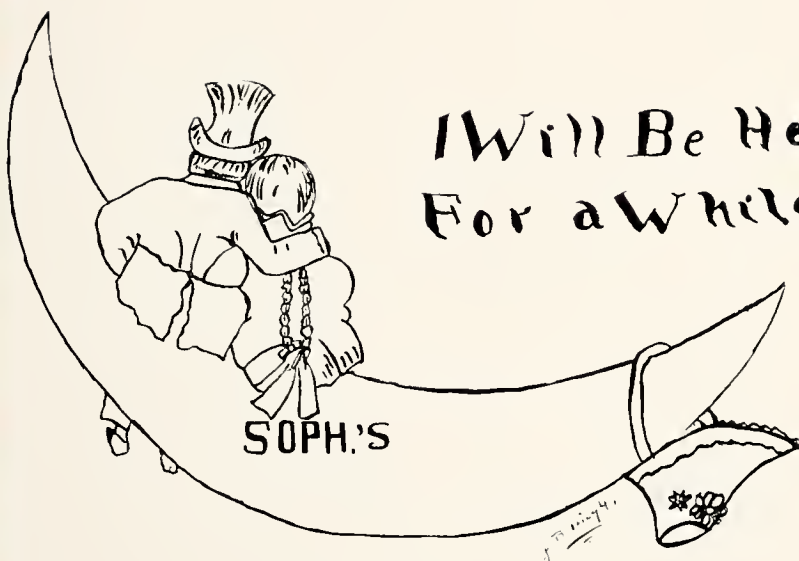

At last half way. To us there seemed abeckoning, "Onward, Forward, Sophomores, you are no longer a mere subject for ridicule. Your big brothers will soon have gone. Do not turn back, you must fill their places. "At this period we began to realize that we really did have an important part to play in the future history of "our Dear Old School."

It has been said, "A Junior knows, but doesn't know that he knows;" so this is the only difference between the Seniors and ourselves. They know and realize it, but we must spend another year of realization. As Juniors, we were greeted with an entire new Faculty, but were consoled when we found so many new faces to combat the atrocities of our new Masters. However this was not the case. They were found to be human—not sarcastic creatures following a pair of glasses—and soon became the friends of everyone. Of course, it took a short time in order that we might learn each other better and resume the routine of school life. More than ever, the Juniors took the initiative, and we now have more Commissioned Officers than any previous class. An active part in athletics is held by the Juniors. As for the Histrionic Art, much good material is numbered among our comrades, and we are also well represented in the Band. Our scholastic record may be compared with any class, and you will see the Juniors at the top.

We, the Juniors of '21, sincerely hope that our efforts will be of avail and with the "Passing of the Seniors," may we be inspired with the same loyal, faithful, and obedient spirit hope to gain heights not reached before.

Sophomore Class History.

THE HISTORY of the Sophomore Class of 1920-21 is one of which all its members may be proud. We have learned that history is no longer a record of past events but a treatise of present events and conditions; so we will not dwell long on the past history.

We were once Sub-Freshmen of course, and proud of the fact, also we were the laughing-stock of the student body; for we did not know the knocks and crooks of college life. We thought we were bright students but the more we learned, the more we discovered our ignorance.

As time rolled by we left Sub-Freshman Class and entered Freshman Class. Quickly we began to catch on to the knocks and crooks of college life.

In spite of Latin and Algebra, many made the required average and were placed on the gold-star list. Just as we are ready to take a peek at the language Caesar spoke so fluently, Sophomore calls us and we can tarry no longer.

We have now reached the golden age in the caller of the present Sophomore class: because we know we have the hardest curriculum in school. With the coming of new teachers, just out of college, we have new ideas of teaching thrust upon us. All of them think their subjects are all we have to learn, so it seems to us.

Almost daily a quizz for tomorrow greets our ears and this being a promise and not a threat is never broken. But in spite of this we admire and respect them; for they with willingness will at any time give aid to those who request it.

In conclusion may I for all the Sophomores extend our best wishes to the Freshman Class for their succession to the future Sophomore Class of G. M. C.; for G. M. C. must grow and grow. It is the Sophomores that will make this possible.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History.

WELL, here we are, seeing you all again, finding ourselves in the same place but not the same position that we were in when our History appeared last year. We are larger and stronger both mentally and physically than when we saw you last. How strange it seems that so many things have happened since then.

Our class is smaller, and hardly as cheerful as it was then, although in this you may not agree with me. The old saying, "The more the merrier" holds good especially in our case as we are grieving over the faces that we see no more, and also of the fact that our class has dwindled down to the small hand-full that we have today. But nevertheless, we are still willing to look forward to the three years more which we hope to spend at G. M. C.

"Now listen," say some, "don't you hear the world calling and taking our Seniors from us; don't sit there and grieve." The world is in a hurry; so there is no time for that. And as we leave you again, we wish you luck and assure you of the fact that we will give you a warmer greeting next year; for we are fast becoming accustomed to our new surroundings.

DONALD JOHNSON, Historian.

SUB-FRESHMAN CLASS

Sub-Freshman History.

It was with a rather unnecessary feeling that we insignificant looking sub-freshmen launched upon our course at G. M. C. last September. We seemed to have impressed upon us the fact that we who had dominated it over the grades the year before should now be called upon to acknowledge that after all we weren't even Freshmen.

But the old saying that it is better to be a little man in a big place than to be a big man in a little place we gradually found to be true, and by Christmas we were content with our new position and happy in the realization that there was still much for us to learn. Since our time here has been very short, our history must be proportionately short and most of it must turn with a prophetic glance toward the future where we can already see ourselves. We realize that year by year the classes above us must drop off, and some day the time will come when we must take on the responsibilities of Seniors. May we so work now that when that day comes we will be trained

COMMERCIAL CLASS

Commercial Class History.

FROM all sections of the grand old state they come for the purpose of acquiring knowledge in the Commercial Class of G. M. C. Everyone was eager to make a big splash in the pool of learning and to reach the realms of the business world.

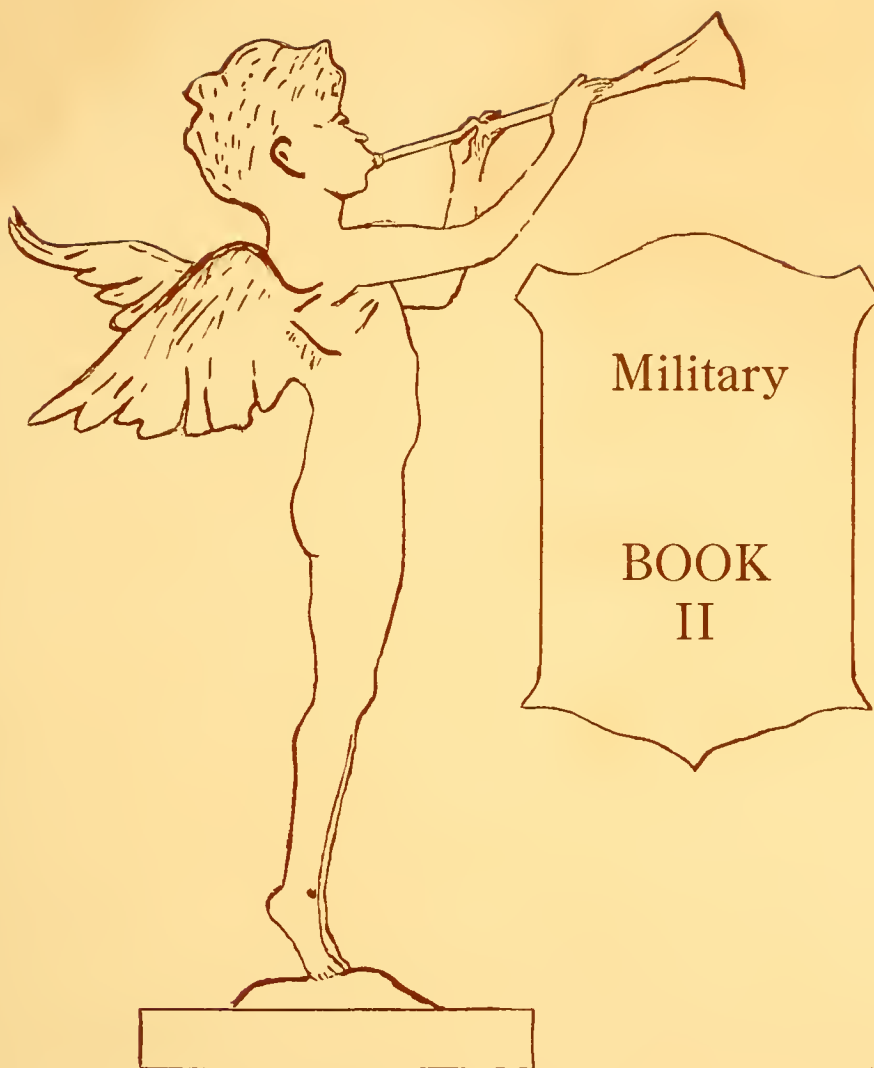

When the ladder still has more steps to climb, there is always eagerness to reach the zenith, and this whole Commercial Class of 1920-21 expects to join those that have gone before them in the heights of the business world.

In the societies all have shown an unfailing spirit and have taken active and prominent parts. Some have spoken with eloquence and ability, and some day G. M. C. may be able to point with pride to some great senators coming from her ranks.

All the Commercial Classes before us have shown great ability in athletics, and this class is another link added to the chain which we hope will never be broken.

Prosperity lies in the future, and we all expect the training we are getting at G. M. C. to enable us to grasp it.

If.

If you keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowances for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies
Or being hated don't give way to hating
And yet don't look too good and don't talk too wise.

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you have spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the thing you gave your life to, broken
And stoop to build them up with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your nerve, your heart, and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—You'll be a man my son!

SETTING UP EXERCISES

Military.

THE Corps of Cadets at G. M. C. is one of the best in the South, and it by far exceeds the majority of other preparatory schools of the state. Not only is the close order drill executed with the greatest precision, but the extended order drill is like clock work.

The United States Government, in the fall of 1916, introduced an infantry unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, at Georgia Military College, and has equipped it with everything that is necessary to successful military training. On the march and in camp, cadets are taught in the same manner as our great army in the field. Two inspections have been made this year by a government inspector, and on both occasions, the student body has been highly complimented on its excellent work.

Military training at this institution is modeled after West Point in every possible way, and discipline prevails in the strictest sense of the word. As force was the order of the day during the French Revolution, so is discipline the order of the day at G. M. C., and in comparison with the other institutions of the south in drill, discipline, and courtesy, we place ourselves second to none.

W. J. ROWLAND.

Coaches.

THOMAS HERBERT BONNER
(Head Coach)

Coach Bonner, a veteran of Auburn has attained unusual success in the many forms of college athletics. At Auburn he gained a place in the hearts of the student body as well as in the hearts of the sport lovers of the South. Since his arrival here, he has shown that same ability, and by his devotion to his duties he has won the admiration of the entire student body.

There has been a lack of material in all the forms of college athletics this year, and it is only due to the fact that we had a coach so well trained, a coach with such rare ability that we could attain what seemed to be impossible. No one could have brought the athletics of G. M. C. to such a standard, no one could have made excellent teams out of entirely raw materials had he not possessed the determination and the courage to face defeat in the present that he might win out in the long run. With this spirit of fight that has characterized him, he has succeeded in making a success that will only be surpassed by himself, he has brought his teams of entirely raw material up to the standard, and by his services the college will continue to prosper in this line of endeavor.

Coach Bonner has a great influence that is felt in the entire student body. Certainly every boy who has been under him, or has come in contact with him in any way has felt his personality. In the days to come, when we shall look back over our school days here at G. M. C., we will realize that he was a man among men. Then we will say as Shakespeare said,

"This was a man."

CHARLES W. EDWARDS

(Assistant Coach)

The Scrubs always directly affect the Varsity, and a good Scrub team generally means a good Varsity. In football under the superb leadership of Coach Edwards, there were a bunch of scrubs almost as good as the Varsity, in fact many of the boys who at the first of the season were on the Scrub line-up finished as Varsity men. This was not so very hard under the excellent coaching of Coach Edwards, for he had had many experiences as a player and a coach.

To Coach Edwards much credit is due. It is with a spirit of increasing admiration that we refer to his untiring efforts in behalf of the Scrub team, which directly aided the Varsity to make the success it did. He has at all times been one of the boys and has seemed to feel their disappointments, to experience their hardships, and it is with much gratitude that we express the pleasure in having had him as one of our coaches. We wish to tell him that he has won a dear place in our hearts.

COLONEL ROBERT GRANT COUSLEY

Our foot ball team last fall was made up almost entirely of men with little or no experience on the gridiron. With such material—if success is to be attained—it is necessary to have leaders who thoroughly understand the game, and are willing to devote their time and energy to the work of building up a team, such a man was Col. Cousley.

He was to be seen almost every afternoon out on the field of battle, and when there was a scrimmage he was generally in the thick of it telling some one what to do, how to do it, and why.

Col. Cousley is not only a great athlete himself, with much experience, but has that rarer faculty of imparting his knowledge to others, and at least three of the varsity owe their success to him.

Whatever fortune the future may hold for the teams at G. M. C. they will always owe much to this fighter for clean athletics.

W. M. MORRISON

(Assistant Coach)

Maj. Morrison came to us from Washington & Lee where he was a brilliant track man, as well as an excellent basketball player. Since his arrival here he has shown that he not only knows how to do himself, but that he can also tell and show others how to do. In other words, he is an excellent coach, and the school is to be complimented on obtaining his services.

Before Christmas even Maj. Morrison could be seen almost any place where there was a basketball, from the Boy Scout, and Company teams to the basketball squad itself. He is a real basketball enthusiast.

If at the beginning of the season we had had a little more material from which to pick, Coach Bonner, with the assistance of Maj. Morrison, would no doubt have made a team that would not have had a peer among the teams of the preparatory schools of the state.

FOOTBALL

Football Season.

At Coach Bonner's call for football volunteers last Fall, there was a very husky bunch of boys that reported the first day, each with the fond hope of making the team and being a star. However, many were destined to be very disappointed, for there were only a few that had ever had any experience in the gridiron game, and not so very many who had even seen a game. They were entirely new men as far as football was concerned, and this was very apparent during the first few days of the practices. The prospects were very slim, and it was only the determination and courage of our faithful Coach that carried us through those trying days of this part of our season.

However, in a few weeks Coach Bonner with the aid of Major Edwards and Colonel Cousley had whipped into shape a team worthy of G. M. C. They had accomplished the impossible, for they had made an excellent team out of men some of whom had never seen a game of football, and others who had had no experience; there being only two who had ever played in a Varsity game before.

Much credit is due Coach Bonner for the excellent team that he made. He knew the game through and through and was a capable imparter of his knowledge; for he would show the men how to do as well as tell them. It was with a spirit of love that the boys fought for him, for they all felt the influence of his personality and the keen magnetism of his person.

To some our football season may seem a failure but in more than one way it has been a great success. The green men that began the season gradually became veterans of the game and each game showed an improvement over the one before it. It is this that shows our success—the fact that we steadily improved from the first to the last. No doubt if it had been possible to start the Season off with the men as they ended, it would had been a team without a peer in the state.

To an old student who is used to winning, and who has G. M. C. credited with a long line of victories, it seems hard indeed to see the record of last Fall's games, but with the new ideal of honor that has been established in the school it was absolutely necessary to suffer seeming defeat in the present that we might win in the long race. This was done, but the team is to be complimented on the creditable showing that it made during the season. Every student feels proud of the fact that it was possible to make a team worthy of G. M. C. when everything pointed to the fact that it was impossible.

The first game of the season was played with Madison A. & M. on our own gridiron. It was a very hard fought game and each team showed excellent form. It was noted on our side that the boys had already felt that G. M. C. spirit of fight, that means fighting until the sound of the last whistle. The score was 19-13 in their favor. Although every man worked hard, it seemed that it was impossible to push over more than two touchdowns, one being bucked over by Warren and the other being made by Reid on a brilliant criss-cross run of ten yards.

The second game of the season was played in a slow drizzle and on a field wet and muddy. However it was an excellent game, the score being 7-0 in favor of Tifton A. & M. Both sides are to be commended on their fine playing and cleanliness of sport. It was a very good game and each team fought hard to pile up a larger score. Reid featured for G. M. C., and by his superb leadership as quarter-back it was possible for us to gain steadily, although we never came within striking distance of the goal.

The team of Douglas A. & M. was the only team played last fall that really outclassed us, and although our boys worked hard and fought to the finish, it seemed that we could not hold them. The score was 21-0.

The fourth game of the season was played with Bailey Military Institute at Greenwood, S. C. It was a very determined bunch of boys that left here the morning of November 4th, for Greenwood, and indeed it was destined to be a glorious trip for a few of the boys at least. Upon their arrival in Greenwood, they were escorted up to the hotel which was soon found to be a place of ease and leisure. Here the members of the team were entertained the evening after the game by a few of the select young ladies of the city. Certainly, everyone enjoyed the evening for it was a pleasurable one. The game itself was an interesting one although Bailey won with a score 17-0. At least a few of the members of the team are looking forward to their second visit to Greenwood. Fowler, Slack and Butts were the star men.

G. M. C. returned to her old-time football form when she defeated the fast team of Dahlonga 7-0. It was an excellent game and one of the best of the season. Baisden in the line and Fowler and Howard in the backfield were the outstanding men. Howard scored the touchdown with a five-yard buck following two very brilliant runs.

The Thanksgiving game was one of much interest, and aroused much spirit through the city. However after a hard fought battle we lost to Locust Grove Institute, the score being 7-6. It was only due to the fact that there were several fumbles that we lost, and even then it was only a matter of luck, as the members of the Locust Grove team admitted.

With Coach Bonner, Maj. Edwards and Col. Cousley all back on the job next year, and with the number of this year's team that are sure to return, it is a safe prediction that the team that represents G. M. C. next year will be at the top of the pile at the end of the season and weeping because there are no other worlds to conquer. With this combination, G. M. C. is sure to start again her long line of victories.

THE MEN

BAIDEN (Tackle) : Baisden was always in the thick of the fight. He never let up fighting and in more than one game made an excellent showing. He is a good punter and did most of the punting for the team. He was always a fine tackler and a terror to opposing backs.

O. O. BANKS (Guard) : Olen always had the goods, and he certainly was a hard fighter. He made a creditable showing all during the season, and was a wonderful linesman. We wish for Olen as great a success in all his endeavors as he made here in football.

W. E. BASS (Tackle) : Bass made a good showing the entire season as a linesman, and in the future no doubt he will make a greater success and gain a greater fame as a gridiron star.

J. W. BLACK (Halfback) : Black was a fine running partner for the other backs. Besides being a good buckler, he was excellent on end runs and a splendid man for interference.

WALLACE BUTTS (End): Wallace our youngest athlete was a wonder at end and was always a terror to the opposing backs. He started off on the Scrubs, but was soon seen to be too good a man to be there and so was immediately placed on the Varsity. Some of Col. Cousley's ability is reflected in him for Colonel always seemed to be specially interested in him. This I suppose is one of the reasons for his wonderful success this year.

FRED DUNN (Guard): Fred showed that fighting spirit that has always characterized G. M. C. and the college that gets him in the future is to be complimented. Here's to you Fred.

FRANK DUNN (End): Frank is a fine man to tear up interference and is a good tackler. No doubt he will win unusual fame in the near future. At first he was a Scrub but hard work and fight put him where he really belonged.

WILL FOWLER (Halfback): Fowler was a fine back, fast as lightning, and therefore a fine end runner. He was not only a fine man to carry the ball, but was also a good man to run interference.

H. B. EVERIDGE (Tackle): Buzz is one of the best men on the team. He always fights to the last. No doubt he will show up in even greater form next year, and we will certainly all be glad to see him back. He will be one of the leading men next year and will win even more success than he did this year.

J. D. HOWARD (Fullback and End): Jimmie has a push and drive that will go through most anything. He was a terror to opposing linesmen, who always had a great respect for his ability. Jimmie's ambition is to be on the Georgia Football and Basketball team, and he will certainly succeed if he continues at the rate he is going.

G. G. REID (Quarterback): Garland was a superb leader, and it was due to his generalship that we were able to fight so much. He always led his men by example, and was an excellent player himself. Reid has been elected alternate captain of next year's team and no doubt he will show great form.

A. E. SLACK (Center): Slack has been selected by the student body as the best football player of the season, and he rightly deserves the position. He was always in the thick of the fight, and had an excellent pass, as well as a sure one. He kicked most of the goals after touchdowns. He was also an excellent man on the defensive and probably played his best game in Greenwood against Bailey. He has been elected captain of next year's team and will be back in fine form and we all wish to see him play his best.

C. F. STILES (Guard): Stiles was a fine man on the defensive, and was good at opening up holes for the backs to go through. In the future Stiles will surely reflect credit on the school by his brilliant playing.

J. M. THOMAS (Halfback): Joe was one of the best backfield men produced this year. He is fast and an excellent man to carry the ball. He was good on receiving forward passes. Good luck to you Joe.

W. J. WILKINS (Halfback): Pee Wee was a fine back, playing his best game with Dahlonga in which he showed that he was fast and good at running interference. He always had the G. M. C. fighting spirit, and possessed rare ability as a player.

M. HINES (Tackle and Center): Madison was a very good linesman and has made a very creditable showing this season. He has fought like a Trojan and has been crowned with success. He was also a very good center and had a fine pass.

WILBUR WARREN (Captain)

Full Back

Perhaps the greatest record of the team and one of which any team might well be proud, was their extremely clean playing and gentlemanly conduct on the field, and for this record a large measure of credit is due our lion hearted full back Wilbur Warren.

Reporting late—due to sickness during the summer—his determination and never say die spirit, soon won for him the proud distinction of Captain of the team; this same spirit was destined later to prove a tower of strength to the team in their many trials, and in fancy we can see his determined face even now, and hear his cheering remark, "That's all right, fellows, play football."

It is a sad thought to the team, as well as to the entire student body, that his name will not be on the roster of G. M. C. another year; however our loss will be some one's gain, as he will move up to a higher school, and we can console ourselves with the thought, that he gave us his best while with us, and that some day we will read great things about his prowess on the grid-iron of some university; so we all join in our good wishes for his future success.

By SERGEANT REESE.

Scrubs.

It is always necessary to have a Scrub team if there is to be a good Varsity. Much credit is due the Scrubs for the making of the Varsity; for they were at all times faithful and uniting in their efforts. They fought like Trojans and many of them gave the Varsity men the scare of their lives for the positions that they held. At this time we want to compliment the members of the Scrub team who toiled faithfully from the start to the finish that there might be a real Varsity, that G. M. C. should be well represented in the football circles of the state. We certainly admire them and we feel that we should take this opportunity to express to them our heart-felt thanks.

The football classic of the season was played when the Scrubs under the excellent leadership of Captain Robinson met in deathly struggle with the Varsity under Captain Warren. It was a wonderful game and each of the two teams fought from the start to the finish, although it seemed that the Scrubs held the upper edge for the final score was 13-6 in their favor. It was one of the many times that the Scrubs showed rare ability as football players.

To the following members of the Scrub team who fought from the first of the season to the last we wish to extend our sincerest thanks, and in the future we wish for them the greatest success that each desires.

Basketball.

To some, our basketball team this year may spell disaster, but to those who know and understand the conditions, as we do, may well appreciate our team, and we may say its a success.

None of last year's letter men were back, consequently the team had to be made of entirely new material. At the beginning of the season their defeats were regular, and the scores large, but each game showed an improvement over the other, until finally the scores became low and close. Even the champions of the G. I. A. A. were hardly a match for the G. M. C. quintet.

All this goes to show the ability that Coach Bonner and Maj. Morrison have of making an excellent team out of comparatively nothing. They are to be complimented on their success which is great though seemingly little, and indeed the members of the team itself are to be congratulated on their success.

Much of the credit and praise that our team has won is due to Capt. Ingram. "Shorty" came to us last year, played hard and consistently the whole season, and was one of the leading scrubs. It was only due to the fact that G. M. C. possessed material far above the average that he did not make his letter then. This year as Captain he has led his men in truth and reality, and by his excellent playing and superb leadership the team has improved wonderfully.

Most of the members of this year's squad will be back next year, and the prospects are very bright for the basketball team of 1922.

JIMMIE D. HOWARD (Guard)

Jimmie fights all the time, never lets up, and is always on the run. There are only a few forwards that put anything over him last season. He will be back next year, and everybody that saw him perform knows that he can deliver the goods. Jimmie's ambition is to play on the football and basketball teams of Georgia, and no doubt he will, some time in the near future.

WALLACE BUTTS (Guard)

Wallace is our youngest athlete, but is one of the best and no doubt will be the best long before he leaves us. He succeeded very well in football, and up until the time he was laid out he was making an excellent success in basketball. We regret very much that he was unable to finish the season with us, and indeed G. M. C. lost a fine man when he was taken sick.

MAT HINES (Center)

Mat is a hard worker and never seems to get tired. He has made a wonderful showing this year, and with a little more experience he will make a remarkable player.

MAX DORSETT (Forward)

Max is an excellent forward, and in his playing this year has shown good training. In the future, with a little fight, which Max surely has, he will no doubt win great success.

ALTON MOORE (Forward)

Little but loud, Alton makes a fine running partner for the Ingram our other forward. He is an extra good shot at the goal, and will certainly win fame and fortune as a basketball player.

BUZZ EVERIDGE (Center)

Buzz has been one of the most valuable men on the team this year, and he deserves much credit for the work that he has done. He is an excellent center and a good jumping man. In every game you may be sure that he will have his share of the points.

LAWRENCE BENNETT (Guard)

Bennett has developed into one of the best guards on the list and has made a very creditable showing on the court this year. He is fast and has always been a terror to the opposing forwards.

(Captain) KEMP INGRAM (Forward)

Shorty is the only man of this year's team who had ever played any basketball at G. M. C. before, and he has at all times been a very good Captain for the men under his leadership.

He is very fast and a wonder as a forward. We will not be surprised if in the future we hear that Ingram, the Captain of our 1920 basketball team, is the captain of some great Collegiate team, leading it to victory. Our wishes for success are with you "Shorty."

Baseball Prospects.

ND now we turn our eyes to baseball, the last hope of the season. Although most of the material is green, we may justly say that the prospects for a good baseball team are bright; for the candidates are hard workers and under the experienced coaching of Coach Bonner we feel sure that we will turn out a wonderful machine.

There is only one letter-man back this year, S. M. Johnson, who is now holding down short in first-class style. Johnson is an accurate fielder and a consistent hitter. We cannot help but feel that as the season progresses he will be blazing the trail for his team-mates.

Up to the present time the Varsity has not been selected and the squad is still large. However, the following men have made excellent showing at their respective places:

Catchers: Thomas and Holland are both hard workers and know the game well. We feel satisfied that they will take care of the position behind the bat in a manner most commendable.

At first base we have Brown and Griffith. Brown is of the slugger type and is covering his place in wonderful style.

"Pee Wee" Wilkins and "Doc" Pierce are both trying hard for second base. Each is showing up well, and both have had considerable experience. Wilkins is very fast, and we shall be disappointed if at the end of the season he does not have several stolen bases to his credit.

C. D. Holland is at third and shows considerable experience. He is a sure fielder, and very dangerous at the bat.

In right field, we have Sledge Tatum, who is a natural slugger and a wonderful fielder. In center field, we have Garland Reid and Frank Dunn. Reid was a Scrub last year and is showing up well this year. Reid has speed on Dunn, but Dunn is no doubt the better hitter. In left field, we have "Sailor Boy" Poe, who is a great all-round player, and we feel sure that he will be a source of worry to opposing pitchers this fall.

For pitchers we have "Lefty" Walker and Martin Holland, both of whom are more than capable of holding down their positions. They have been tried, tested, and proven, and we feel sure that too much can not be said of their ability. With these two excellent men on our line-up, it is almost certain that we can give any team in the G. I. A. A., a hard fight even if we do not win.

It would be unjust to pass over our 1921 baseball team without complimenting our second team, which has already shown excellent services in the making of the Varsity. They are full of pep, and are giving valuable aid in the practice games. They are the prospects of our future teams, and have already shown that they possess rare ability.

Track Prospects.

HERETOFORE G. M. C. has been barred from the track meets of this Congressional District, but now that she is in the G. I. A. A., she will have the opportunity to show the ability of the students in that line. Some time in April or May there is to be a Track meet of the different institutions that are members of the G. I. A. A. at some place to be decided upon later. Of course this will be the final view of the track teams—to win the largest number of points at this meet, but now at the present everyone has turned his eyes toward the meet between the different companies which will be held April 8th.

At present, no one has as yet started training for the events; but no doubt in a few days, there will be a number of boys to don their track uniforms who will be seen doing cross-country running for wind, and practicing the different things for skill. The company teams will begin working out some time in the near future, and the meet between them will be held as a kind of preliminary for the G. I. A. A. meet later in the Spring.

As yet nothing definite can be said as to the material present in school, but it is very evident that there are a number of good track men from the fact that a good many boys who won first and second places on Field Day of last year are back, and are sure to work hard for the same honors this year. Then there are quite a few who have been noted in the Physical drills and games held by Col. Cousley in the military department.

The school is to be complimented on the fact that she obtained such an able coach as Maj. Morrison, who is to be head coach of the track team. Maj. Morrison is a good track man himself, having made a great success at Washington & Lee where he showed himself to be an excellent long-distance runner, and a good sprinter. Since he has been with us we also know that he possesses that rare ability of being capable of imparting his knowledge to others. Under his leadership and good guidance, and by his faithful and unceasing efforts G. M. C. should be able to mould into shape a team that will not only equal, but surpass those of the other schools of our class in the state.

SENATE LITERARY SOCIETY

Oh! I didn't use to like 'em, And I thought 'em quite a bore, But I realize my folly, And I'm wiser than before; Now I dream of smiles and kisses
 And of soft and clinging curls, For I'm simply going crazy 'Bout
 the doggone
 girls!

Now
 the poets say that ignorance is a synonym for bliss,
 But when you wive
 up later, Then you see just what you miss; So I'm living down my errors,
 (Or I'm trying like the dickens), For I'm really going looney 'Bout
 the doggone
 chickens
 !!

Oh! I love
 'em when they're truculent, I love 'em when they're mild; I love 'em soft and innocent, And love 'em when they're wild;
 But I lose my head completely when they start their naughty 'wimmin', For I've plainly gone kafflooy 'Bout
 the dog-gone
 Wimmin!!!

THE biggest hit of the season for Milledgeville by semi-professional actors was played by the members of G. M. C.'s Dramatic Club. The remarkable ability of these actors was portrayed to the public in their latest play, "A Woman's Honor;" which created quite a sensation throughout the state. The play was a high class one in every respect and played in a high class manner.

The following were the cast:

|---------------------------------------------|-----------|------------------------|
| General Mark Lester (Hero of Cuban War)     | . . . . . | A. B. Coggin    |
| Pedro Mendez—(His half brother)             | . . . . . | Lovick Pierce   |
| Dr. Garcia—(Surgeon of the Madeleine)       | . . . . . | C. H. Horne     |
| Gilbert Hall, M. D.—(In love with Olive)    | . . . . . | Lovick Alfriend |
| Robert Glenn—(A Wall Street Banker)         | . . . . . | C. H. Horne     |
| Gregory Grimes—(Lester's Private Secretary) | . . . . . | A. D. Williams  |
| Ebenezer—(Glenn's butler)                   | . . . . . | J. B. Tingle    |
| Olive } (Glenn's daughters)                 | . . . . . | { Nell Simms    |
| Sally }                                     |           | { Helen Riley   |
| Maria—(Wife of Pedro)                       | . . . . . | Clyde Veal      |

Lt. Williams, the hero of the day, was remarkably successful in carrying out the leading part with its many romantic scenes. He was more than satisfactorily supported by Helen Riley with her many lingering ditties.

Nell Simms along with Coggin kept the audience well guessing, while Lovick Alfriend made occasional bids for Nell's love but never with much effect. We can remember the serious touch that these three added long after the lighter parts have faded.

Horne with his double roll played the part of an eccentric banker and that of a Spaniard as if he had a taste for the real thing. Clyde Veal, as the wife of a cunning half breed, played her part in a way that made every moment a pleasure. Lovick Pierce as the scheming half breed, always envious of his half brother, carried out his part splendidly.

The whole life and pep of the play was furnished by Tingle as the rich banker's butler. He never failed to make you laugh.

The Allegorical Pageant "King Cotton" was presented at the Opera

House in Milledgeville, Thursday night, February 24th, under the auspices of G. M. C., to one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds that ever assembled in Milledgeville. The Pageant consisted of a play in which the cotton grower's system of farming was splendidly illustrated. The boll weevil, the single cropper, the tenant system, diversity and the other elements which go into the farmer's line of business were impersonated by the characters on the stage in a most forceful manner. In the end, the boll weevil was killed, and Prince Diversification and Princess Prosperity wed and live happily ever after.

The following was the cast:

|                                    |                                    |
|------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| King Cotton . . . . .              | Madison Hines               |

The performance consisted of three acts, the first, "The Court of King Cotton," the second and third, "The Garden of the King."

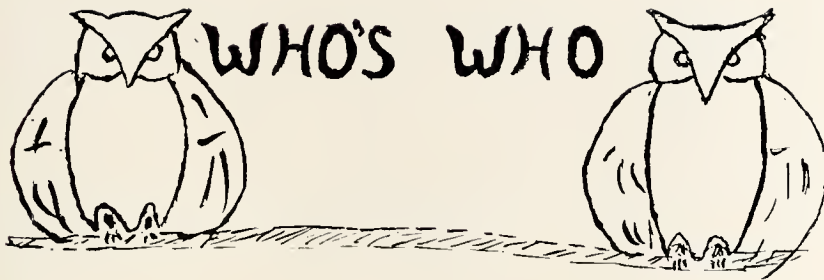

The lesson which the play taught was very impressive and at the same time very laughable. Between the acts were specialties, among the best ever seen here, including the Virginia Reel and an old time negro cake walk.

The king and his retinue appeared gorgeously costumed while the orchestra played the overture of "Southern Melodies," and the national hymns of all the countries which completed the setting.

The dances were an absolute novelty and lent a real Southern atmosphere which carried the audience back to the "good old days."

The pageant was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and the cast received high commendation for the excellent interpretation of the rules.

“When we Forget.”

When we forget the dear old school
That we have to leave today,
We shall forget what laughter is
And what true lovers say.

When we forget old G. M. C.,
When we are far away some night,
We shall forget the warmth of home
Of hearth and candle light.

When we forget these class-rooms dear
Wherein our time must end,
We shall forget what friendship means
And the value of a friend.

We shall forget the face of love
The sound of mirth and song
When we forget the dear old school
Where we were glad so long.

Nellie Sims.

“Send it In.”

If you have a bit of news,
Send it in;
Or a joke that will amuse
Send it in;

A story that is true,
An incident that is new,
We want to hear from you—
Send it in.

Never mind about the style,
If the news is worth the while,
It will help, or cause a smile,
Send it in.

DYNAMITE KIRKLAND—"How's the world serving you?"

J. M. THOMAS—"Go to-o-o it. Go to-o-o it."

1st Cadet: What are those trunks doing over there by the stage door?

2nd Cadet: They are the chorus girls' costumes.

1st Cadet: Let's go to another show then.

1st Co-Ed: I would like to get a man who could look me straight in the eye when he is talking to me.

2nd Cadet: Then you will have to wear THEM longer.

Maj. Martin (In biology class): When you go out on a cold winter morning what do you see on every hand?

Hall: Gloves, sir.

EXTRACTS FROM A CO-ED'S NOTE BOOK.

If a man kisses you on the forehead it shows that he admires your brains. (This must be why so few men do this.)

If he kisses you on the cheek it shows that he is not afraid of lead poisoning.

If he kisses you on the chin it shows that he is coming across the next time.

If he kisses you on the cheek it shows he has good taste, and he will usually try it again.

Waiter: That order of eggs you ordered—how would you like to have them?

Cadet: I would like to have them very much indeed.

Co-Ed: I don't believe in running the fashions in the ground.

Cadet: I had just noticed that you believe in keeping them some distance from the ground.

Maj. Rolston: What is the most enjoyable time for you while at G. M. C.

Maj. Warren: The time between taps and reveille, that is if I go to bed early.

Senior: I heard a preacher say it was a sin for anyone to wear too many clothes, while so many poor people in Europe are freezing.

Junior: Then I think most girls should go to heaven.

Captain Bennett: (To a visiting Wesleyan girl): Are you fond of jokes?

Wesleyanite: Oh! I hardly know you yet.

G. N. I.'S WARNING.

Oh you must not flirt with me

Nor even wink an eye;

For as you know I told you

That I go to G. N. I.

You mustn't let them see you

I hope they don't see me

For I go to G. N. I.

And you go to G. M. C.—(sfb)

Very few men can offer their hearts to a girl and still keep their heads.

Here's to you my dear

And to the one that is not here, my dear

But if the dear that is not here, were here, my dear

I'd not be drinking with you my dear.
(S. F. B.)

Cadet: Please let me kiss you?

Co-Ed: Mother doesn't like kissing.

Cadet: Tell her she need not worry, I don't intend kissing her.

Co-Ed: I don't see anything special in these crepe de chine dresses.

Cadet: Then our tastes are very different or you don't look at them in the right LIGHT.

CENSORED BY MAJOR ROLSTON.

Maj. Rolston: If any of you ever have a chance to go on an ocean trip be sure to take it as I think it will prove educational.

Senior: Yes sir, I've heard that if a man had anything in him seasickness will bring it out.

SECOND THOUGHT.

I saw her on the beach

Her name was Elsie Meggs,

She was surely a peach—

She had such pretty—ARMS.

Maj. Rolston: Bigamy is the state of affairs which exists when a man has one wife too many.

Maj. Moore: No! No! my boy, a man may have one wife too many and still not be a bigamist.

Waiter (at breakfast): What was the matter with those eggs I brought in just now?

Cadet: Nothing much, they were just too small for their age.

Cadet: Why is it your mother never trusts you out alone?

Co-Ed: I suppose it is because she knows me better than you do.

They sat alone in the moonlight,
She soothed his troubled brow;
Dearest I know my life has been fast,
But I'm on my last lap now.

WHO CARES?

You had better lengthen your skirt.

Huh

You see some man is apt to mistake you for a little girl and try to take you on his lap.

UH, HUH.

Capt. Horne: Why are you limping?
Do your shoes hurt?

Cook: No sir, but my feet do.

Out on the beach she held my hand.

I did not want it to be so;

I coaxed, I begged, I swore, but

That doggone crab would not let go.

Sibley: May I have the next dance with you?

Co-Ed: If you press me.

Sibley: Wait until we dance.

Maj. Edwards: What is Algebra?

Sub-Fresh: It's a pronoun used instead of Arithmetic.

Little skirts of brown

Little waists of white

To a G. M. C. rookie

Always be polite.

S. F. B.

Maj. Morrison: Of what importance was the battle of Waterloo?

Holmes: Gee, Major; It's been so long since I've studied American history I've really forgotten.

1st Cadet: McSwiney was on a hunger strike for sixty-five days.

2nd Cadet: That's nothing, I've been on an involuntary one since September.

A cadet while walking down the street, observed a negro baby crying lustily in its mother's arms, remarked to the old negro:

"That child is spoiled. That's what's the matter with it.

"No, sar; that's the way all little nigger babies smell.

Maj. Rolston: The next one I see talking in class will have to leave the room.

Williams: Look at me quick, Major, before you back out.

Oh, her name, it was Irene

And she dressed in crepe de chine

But you could see more of Irene

Than you could the crepe de chine.

If we can't get half fare at the picture show, we can at the cafe.

Maj. Morrison: How is greenland governed?

Williams: It belongs to Normandy, doesn't it Major.

Col. Alfriend: Where is Mr. Horne today?

Warren: He's O. D. sir.

Col. Alfriend: O, yes; that's "On Duty," isn't it.

1st Freshman: Why does B come before C in the alphabet?

2nd Freshman: Because we must be before we can see.

Maj. Cabell: How many sides has a prism?

Student: Two, sir; inside and outside.

Maj. Martin (assigning lesson in Physics): We will go through the force pump for tomorrow.

Tingle (in the canteen): What do you want Bennett?

Bennett: O nothing much.

Tingle: This is a weiner stand, not a ladies ready to wear store.

If G. N. I. girls didn't wear uniforms what would G. M. C.?

AT G. M. C. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR—

Parish to be serious.
Rowland to smile at a girl.
Slack to stay off the sick list.
Tingle to get up in time for breakfast.
Fowler to meet drill regularly.
Clyde Veal to arrive in time for Chapel.
Helen Riley to work a Trig. problem.
Warren to study his lessons.
Zelma Chandler to look pale (as long as red chemicals are for sale).
Coggin, Stembbridge and Banks to attend classes five days each week.
Commissioned officers to stay away from G. N. & I. C.

Maj. Rolston: You say coming to G. M. C. has made you start to saying your prayers.

Gilmore: Yes, sir; sleeping on a double decker is enough to make any one think of after life.

A new cadet after eating some bread, a piece of steak and some grits got up and started to his room.

You can't leave the table it's against the rules.

But I must it's hard wood and my teeth are not so good as they were before I came to G. M. C.

If music is the language of the soul then "Jazz" must be it's profanity.

Maj. Morrison: Explain the open shop policy.

Sibley: It is to forget to close the door sir.

1st Co-Ed: I had a boy to press some roses for me last night.

2nd Co-Ed: That's nothing, I had one to press my tulips.

Horne: Don't you have all the money you want?

Parish: All I want! Why there isn't that much.

Parish: They are going to close the library.

Maj. Russell: Why is it?

Parish: They have just found small pox in the Dictionary.

FOOLISH QUESTIONS AT G. M. C.

1. Will we have drill to-day?
2. Does my uniform look bad?

3. Will we have grits for supper?

4. Is the Trig. lesson very hard?

5. Has Captain Bennett ever tried to borrow any money from you?

6. Did Capt. Horne get a letter to-day?

7. Did Tingle sleep through reveille this morning?

8. Is Major Russell hard boiled?

A Riverside Cadet while on a visit to G. M. C. thought Riverside could not have a peer on any line what ever.

When shown our Academic building, he said, "That is not near as large as ours."

When shown our athletic field, he said, "That is not near so nice as ours."

That night some cadets put a lobster in the bed to be occupied by the visitor. After a while a great commotion was heard in the room, so we went in to see what had caused it.

He said, "What kind of an animal is that?" We told him it was a G. M. C. "bed bug!"

He said, "Damn! He must be a young one; you just ought to see the ones we have at R. M. A."

Maj. Edwards: Morrison your hair certainly is Auburn.

Maj. Morrison: My hair is Auburn but my pocket book is for Tech. —How much?

Maj. Rolston: Who was making that noise?

Tingle: Nobody, sir; it was only Bennett.

Maj. Morrison: Name nine important battles of the Civil War.

Sibley: Bull Run, Gettysburg and Seven Days Battle.

Maj. Rolston: What are we studying under composition?

Thomas: Our lesson, sir.

Williams: Gee! Bo; I wish there was no such thing as money.

Sibley: Don't worry we haven't any proof that there is.

Co-Ed (to cadet): You had better not call on me any more soon, father is cleaning his gun.

Some girls feel perfectly safe in a taxie with a boy as long as the driver does not look around.

1st Cadet: The March winds used to blow up the ladies skirts.

2nd Cadet: Well don't they now?

1st Cadet: Impossible, they are already up.

Maj. Morrison: Who was William I of Prussia?

Dunn: He was the DAUGHTER of queen Louise, sir.

Maj. Rolston: Who was that laughing out that way?

Nell Simms: It was I, sir, I was laughing up my sleeve but there is a hole in the elbow.

The three captains were discussing the weakness of their sense of smell due to their respective bad colds; it was decided to test it out. A live goat was placed in a room.

Horne went in first and stayed about fifteen minutes.

Sibley then went in, but had to emerge after five minutes close communion.

Bennett went inside, and in less than two minutes the goat came out.

KISS ME SIBLEY, NOTHING MAKES ME SICK.

Capt. Sibley: Fussell why are you out of step?

Fussell: I'm mixed up this week, sir.

Williams: What is your favorite sport?

Tingle: Eating ham sandwiches.

Rowland (At Hawaiian concert): I thought they were going to be real Hawaiians.

Mikell: Well, aren't they?

Rowland: No, they are only people.

Bennett (After hearing Sgt. Reese talk): And what country did you say the Phillippines were in?

1st Cadet: Some girls pay ten dollars for a pair of hose and show nine dollars and a half of them.

2nd Cadet: Then the other fifty cents must be in the shoes.

Maj. Rolston: So you have come to the class again without a pencil? What would you say if you saw a cadet report to drill without a rifle?

Bryan: I would say he was an officer, sir.

Corpl. Rowland (to rookie): When I give the command halt, you bring the foot that is on the ground up beside the one which is in the air and remain motionless.

Mikell (After sleeping thru breakfast): Was there anything new this morning?

Parrish: Yes, there was another fly in the syrup pitcher.

A Lt.: Let me show you what kind of noise my whistle makes.

Sgt. Reese: Never mind my lad I have been tooting one of those d—med ole thunderers ten years.

Bennett (explaining a new movement to the recruits): At the command, Right step, March, you place the right foot out to the right fifteen inches and keep on putting it out until Halt is given.

A Phrenologist: Major Rolston, you have a pronounced mathematical bump.

Maj. Rolston: Yes, that is where my father hit me with a brick for being at the bottom of my class in Arithmetic.

Love is the only game in which a pair beats three of a kind.

1st Boy: I bet there are more of Lt. William's pictures in the annual than any one elses.

2nd Boy: Why?

1st Boy: He is the photographer this year.

Warren: My whistle doesn't make enough noise to attract attention.

Sgt. Reese: That's all right if yours doesn't go loud enough Major, just call one of the Sergeants out and let him blow his.

Jokes are fun makers

As you may recall,

So what is life then

But a joke for us all.

Major Edward's Love Story.

"Edwards" was in a "Little" trouble; so he thought. He went "Schoe-flin" off to the river "Banks" in order to be alone. The river was "Fuller" than ever before. It ever "Mo-ran." There was a heavy "Cloud" overhead but the "Poe" fellow was in love and that made him feel like a sweet "William (s)." He seated himself on a "Craig," thinking seriously. Suddenly he heard a "Russell" in a near-by tree, looking up he saw a "Martin" building a nest. Had he not had a good "Holt-on" a "Reid" he would have fallen in the "Waters" of the nearby "Ireland," for he could feel gravity "Pullen" him down as he sat there. Then he heard a "Horne" and the "Tingle" of a "Bell." He thought at first that it was a "Shepard" but looking across the "Holland" he saw a "Black" "Veal" which "Morrison" was driving to the "Mayfield." He heard the "Hooten" of an owl like the "Rushin" of the waters in River "Jordan" "Mixon" with the ocean. All he could think of was the "Ivey" covered porch where he had stood with his sweetheart a year ago, looking at the "Starrs." About that time "Lucky" "Rolston" came "Riden" up on a "Cambell" bringing "Edwards" a "Cow-bel" and the news that his fair French maiden of "DeVaris" had accepted his proposal. He was so overjoyed that he made a "Monk" of himself as he sent forth cries of joy thru the "Woods." In fact he fell like a "King" or a "Farmer" either. On the first "Day" of "May" he sailed for her. But first he went to a "Goldsmith" and bought a wedding ring with money he had won on different "Betts."

Soon afterwards he returned from France but was no longer a "Freeman" as he had marched down the bright (or perhaps dark) hall of matrimony.

"Edwards' " bride's parents had been very "Slack" upon her in youth, she therefore had no "Hobby's." But in a short time she could "Cook" bread both "Brown" and "Dunn" just as well as any New England "Minor." It was neither "Crumbly" nor "English" style.

Not long afterward "Bonner" found "Edwards" sitting in the very same spot "Bowen" his head nearly to the ground and a look in his eye that would "Pierce" "Rowland." This gave way to a "Blank" expression when asked his trouble. He said that he was "Pondering" over the "Stiles" his wife was "Warren" in order that she might "Kicklighter."

Returning home he found the "Door sett" open and a note in the "Keho(1)e" saying that his wife had taken their last "Dollah" to pay the grocer for some "Sammons" for which they "Odum."

He waited for her a while but soon got the "Rickets" and went to meet her. They returned together about the time the "Batts" begun to fly. He was about to "Walker" to death but they got home just as the "Parish" priest was passing. So we last leave them with this man "A(1)friend" to all.
